WAR DEBTS AGREEMENT REACHED BY BRITAIN

NO REPLY FROM WASHINGTON

HOUSE OF COMMONS DISAPPOINTED

London, June 14.
A crowded House of Commons received a further disappointment late last night when Mr. Neville Chamberlain was expected to make an announcement of the Cabinet's decision on the war debts question.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer stated that he was still unable to make a statement because he had not yet received a reply to the proposals he had made to Washington.—Reuter.

WORLD ECONOMIC CONFERENCE

Chancellor To Present British Views

IMPORTANT STATEMENT TO-MORROW

CHINA LOBBYING ON SILVER

London, June 14.
The Chinese delegation to the World Economic Conference is actively lobbying, largely, it is understood, on the silver question.

Mr. T. V. Soong has had conversations on the silver question with both the British and American delegations, but hitherto it is not believed that any tangible proposals have emerged.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, will make an important statement putting forward the British proposals at to-morrow's sitting of the World Economic Conference.

The Austrian Chancellor, Dr. Dollfus, is also expected to speak, and will later return to Vienna to deal with the internal situation.

CURRENCY STABILISATION.

During yesterday afternoon, interesting addresses were delivered by Mr. Koc (Poland), Senor Ferrera (Cuba) and M. Mainoff (Bulgaria).

Mr. Koc urged the stabilisation of the currencies of the great Powers as the first consideration, followed by the re-establishment of the gold standard. He considered that of all the problems, the stabilisation of currency was of fundamental importance, and should be kept in the forefront.

TARIFF REDUCTIONS.

No artificial measure could restore prices to where they were before the crisis, and all efforts should be directed towards the reconstruction and stability of international relationships. The Cuban delegate said: "If the Conference does not succeed in reducing the very high rate of tariffs which exist in the world to-day, it will have failed in its principal task."

He proposed a gradual modification of tariffs to be carried out over a period of five years.

GERMAN VIEWS.

Baron Von Neurath (Germany) emphasised the desire of his country to collaborate in the spirit of the King's opening address. He remarked that the interests of creditor and debtor countries seemed to differ and that the gold standard countries seemed to have other interests than the

Part Payment of Instalment To Be Made

LONDON'S DAY OF ANXIETY

ENDED BY DISCLOSURE EARLY TO-DAY

LONDON, JUNE 14.
IT WAS ANNOUNCED IN LONDON IN THE EARLY HOURS OF THIS MORNING, AFTER THE ANXIETY AND UNCERTAINTY OF THE LAST TWO DAYS, THAT A DEFINITE AGREEMENT HAD BEEN REACHED BETWEEN THE GOVERNMENT AND PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT ON WAR DEBTS.

The basis of the agreement is a payment on account by Britain on June 15. It is also agreed that an enquiry is to be instituted by the United States into the whole debt position.

No definite figure is available authoritatively, though it is believed that the amount which Britain is to pay is nearer five per cent. of the amount due than ten per cent.

President Roosevelt's reply to the British Note is expected to-morrow, and while there are definite indications that he is encountering legal and other difficulties on his side, there is distinct optimism in well-informed quarters.

It is understood that the debt agreement provides for the payment of part of the sum in silver. The enquiry which is to be instituted into the whole debt questions is to commence before the December instalment for 1933 becomes due.—Reuter.

SENATE AND PRESIDENT AT LOGGERHEADS

COMPLICATING FACTOR IN THE DEBT SITUATION

(SPECIAL TO "TELEGRAPH").

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, June 14, 8.35 a.m.)

WASHINGTON, JUNE 13.
AS THE HECTIC ELEVENTH-HOUR BICKERING OVER THE WAR DEBTS QUESTION IS REACHING ITS CLIMAX, THE SENATE IS REFUSING TO ADJOURN AND TO REMOVE ITS MOST UNWELCOME PRESENCE FROM THE HARASSED PRESIDENT.

The Senate and President Roosevelt are still facing a complete deadlock over the tussle to reduce the recent cuts from the ex-Soldiers' allowances.

The President's plans provide for economies of U.S.$460,000,000. The modifications would reduce the saving by anything from $60,000,000 to $150,000,000.

The House of Representatives has already gone into recess waiting for the Senate to pass whatever legislation remains pending prior to adjournment sine die.

The war debts die-hards are overjoyed at this opportunity to continue their jealous watch on the White House and are ready to rush in and denounce any attempt "to see off Uncle Sam in Europe."

ITALY ALSO OFFERS PART PAYMENT

In some quarters the feeling exists that the President will delegate powers to negotiate war debts, parallel with the World Economic Conference, although not actually in the Conference, to Mr. Cordell Hull, the Secretary of State, and his economic advisers. Strong opposition is evident. Senator Lewis Wells, the Democratic Whip, urged that the United States delegation should walk out of the World Economic Conference rather than permit a discussion of war debts. He quoted similar action by the Germans at Lausanne as a precedent.—Reuter.

EUROPEAN BITTEN BY A CAT

WYNDHAM STREET INCIDENT

As a variation from the daily reports of dog bites the Police were informed yesterday that a European resident was bitten by a cat and that he went to a doctor for precautionary treatment against possible complications.

The victim was Mr. A. W. Torrible, of Gilman & Co. In Wyndham Street yesterday he happened upon a group of Chinese ill-treating a cat, and when in rescuing it, he caught hold of the cat, it bit him severely in the wrist.

Mr. Torrible afterwards had his injury attended to by a foreign doctor, and on his advice, the cat was removed to the depot at Kennedy Town for observation.

SOVIET SEEKING U.S. CREDIT

RECOGNITION ISSUE

COTTON PURCHASE

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received June 14, 6.20 a.m.)

Washington, June 13.
It is learned that the Soviet trade agency, Amtorg, has been engaged in long discussions with officials of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the possibility of obtaining a credit for the purchase of American cotton.

According to information from the Corporation, no definite figure of how much cotton would be involved in the proposed transaction has been mentioned, but from other quarters it is learned that a credit of five million American dollars is sought as a beginning.

Before anything can be done, however, it is understood that President Roosevelt and the State Department will have to be consulted in view of the fact that the Soviet Government has never been recognized by the United States. There is a powerful section of opinion in the United States which is demanding the early recognition of Soviet Russia for the purpose of facilitating trade.—Reuter.

"DEPRESSION" IN POLICE COURTS

FEWER CASES DURING LAST YEAR

Even the Magistracy is suffering from the economic depression. In 1932 only 19,155 cases were heard at the Central Court as against 22,631 in 1931, while Kowloon cases numbered 14,418 as compared with 15,289. Fines received were down from $168,409 in 1931 to $148,094 and calls estimated were down from $41,121 to $25,235.

U.S. COTTON TAX DROPPED

SENATE WITHDRAWS AMENDMENT

The tax of one cent per bale on cotton involved in sales contracts has been eliminated from the Farm Credit Bill as the result of a conference between the Senate and the House of Representatives. The Senate agreed to drop the amendment.—Reuter.

GLOUCESTER BUILDING BAND SLANDER CASE

ANTHRAX IN COLONY

SHAVING BRUSHES CONFISCATED

OLD INCIDENT DISCLOSED

A case of anthrax in a human having occurred in November of the previous year, states the Report of the Sanitary Department for 1932, departmental investigation secured the voluntary surrender of a suspected consignment of shaving brushes. Suspicion having been confirmed by Bacteriological examination, the Governor in Council passed a regulation on 10th January, 1932, (under section 3 of the Importation and Exportation Ordinance, 1915) restricting importation of shaving brushes from the place of origin of this consignment.

1,740 RATS CAUGHT.

The report also states that twenty-seven members of the Cleansing Staff were employed during the year setting traps, bird-lime boards and rat poison, also collecting rats from street rubbish, private premises, etc., and taking them to the Public Mortuary for examination. Special campaigns in March and September were undertaken when rat poison was distributed throughout the urban districts. The total number of rats caught was:—
Hongkong, 92,691; Kowloon, 81,648.
Of these none were found to be plague infected.

MACON RUDDER DISABLED.

New York, June 14.

The United States naval airship, Macon, a sister-ship of the ill-fated Akron, which is making a forty-hour test flight from Akron to the World Fair at Chicago, has reported to Frankfort, that her rudder is disabled.

SLANDER ACTION.

In the Gloucester Building Band slander case, Mr. Justice Lindsell held that he had no reason to disbelieve the evidence of Mr. Butt and that there had been publication of a slander.

Mr. Mackinlay asked for leave to amend his defence, denying that the words were defamatory. Legal argument on this point is proceeding.

Later Mr. Lindsell gave judgment for plaintiff, awarding him the sum of $1 and making no order as to costs.

MR. NEWMAN IN THE BOX

DENIES ALLEGED COMMENT

QUESTION OF AN APOLOGY

Mr. Percy Ingham Newman, manager of the Gloucester Building and defendant in a claim by his former band leader, for $1,000 for alleged slander, gave evidence at the Supreme Court this morning when the case was resumed before the Paines Judge, Mr. R. E. Lindsell, after a fortnight's adjournment.

Plaintiff is Mr. Dick Adamson, a musical director and player of the saxophone, clarinet, and trumpet, the claim arises from incidents which happened when he was leader of the band at the Gloucester Building.

ALLEGED SLANDER.

Of the two causes of action, one has been ruled out by His Lordship and the case is now based on a conversation between the defendant and Mr. William Lawson Butt on February 23 when the former is alleged to have said:—
"The band is no good and I am fed up to the teeth with them and am getting rid of them. There is Adamson—you know him—that trumpet he is playing is the cause of the whole thing. It kills the band and the orchestra is driving my crowd away in lieu of attracting them. I have received more complaints about that trumpet than anything in the whole building."

Mr. M. A. da Silva, of Messrs. D'Almeida, Remedios, and—Silva, is for plaintiff, and the defendant is represented by Mr. W. A. Mackinlay, of Messrs. Deacons.

TOTAL DENIAL.

Mr. Mackinlay said the defence would be a total denial of the publication of the alleged words, and failing that, a submission that the words were not defamatory.

Mr. Newman then entered the witness box and recounted his conversation with Butt.
"I was sitting on the balcony with two friends when Butt came to see me. He said he wanted to tell me about an orchestra and I told him that I was not interested and nearly finished the conversation there. He then said he had heard that Adamson was leaving and added 'I have got a very good Number One to take his place.'"

MR. NEWMAN'S VERSION.

Just then Mr. Adamson passed and I said, 'There is Mr. Adamson. Do you know him?' He said 'Yes, and that was all the conversation as far as I can recollect. Butt said 'I will see you again' and I said 'Yes, do.'"

In reply to Mr. Mackinlay, defendant said he had heard the statements he was alleged to have made and he denied saying a "word of it."

Mr. Silva: Whatever your solicitor has said in this court was it on instructions from you?—Yes.

It was put to Mr. Adamson in the witness box by your solicitor, that he was bringing this action for the sole purpose of obtaining money and it was very strongly put.

FEBRUARY LETTER.

Now may I refer you to the letter of February 27, from Adamson asking for an apology only; not even saying that he wanted a public apology in the papers; is not that so?—Witness did not reply.

You agree that if that apology had been given, no further action would have been taken?—Quite likely.

You did not reply to that letter until the further letter of March 3 asking for a reply.

Now if I may refer you again to the letter written by your

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

BEAUTY NOTES

Get Rid of Those Ugly Blackheads

If you have difficulty in getting rid of blackheads, make a lotion of equal parts of rosewater, turpentine, bezoin, and glycerine, and bathe the affected parts two or three times a day.

It is advisable to remain indoors for at least an hour after applying this lotion, as it quickly opens the pores. When you have submitted to this treatment for a week, squeeze the offenders out of the skin.

If the skin is very delicate and becomes red and raw with this application, it can soon be made white and smooth by applying Fuller's earth mixed to a thick paste with milk, before retiring at night. Next morning wash in cold water, and apply a light dusting of rice powder.

Where the blackheads are less obstinate, cover them with a soft strip of flannel, soaked in hot olive oil, for as many minutes as the oil remains warm. The oil, at the beginning, should be just hot enough to bear your little finger with comfort, and the flannel should be squeezed well to prevent the oil dripping.

Now cover your forefinger with soft cloth, thick enough to prevent the nail marking the skin, and press out the offenders.

Head and Shoulders in Style

Two notes from a new spring song are this white hat and matching scarf, made of a new white spongy crepe. The little hat has an effectively draped top, neat and ornamental, higher in the back than the front. The scarf has one end that slips through the other, holding the scarf in place, with a little touch of flowers right under the chin. It is particularly effective with a black costume.

SLEEVES ARE PEEKING!

And They're Cuffing Style Around—the Wrists

Elissa Landi

Hollywood.—Short sleeved coats and capes, with blouse or dress sleeves protruding to make long cuffs are a new wrinkle in Hollywood styles.

Elissa Landi, wore a string coloured jersey outfit, the pointed yoke and long sleeve cuffs being of matching silk crepe, and the little jersey jacket's sleeves ending just below the elbow. She wore a big bow tie of brown taffeta ribbon and the buttons on the frock were brown.

Phyllis Barry, wore a black transparent dress with its long sleeves trimmed with rows of black taffeta, a black taffeta bow at her throat and her little shoulder cape stopping just at the elbows, to show her sleeves beneath.

Ann Harding, wore a brilliant red dress with white stitching all up the deep cuffs of the sleeves and around the bottom and a short-sleeved matching cape topping it.

SAVOURY SALADS

Novel Dressings for Your Vegetables

Now that lettuce is to be had fairly cheaply once more, we joyfully turn our attention to salads and their accompaniments. We do our best to vary the salad vegetables by adding to the lettuce—sometimes tomatoes, sometimes cooked peas, sometimes cucumber; but it seldom occurs to us that we might vary the dressing! Most housewives alternate between French dressing and mayonnaise, oblivious of the fact that there are several other possibilities. Below are recipes for novel dressings that will give zest to any salad.

Piquante Dressing

Rub the yolk of 2 hard-boiled eggs through a wire sieve, add a pinch each of salt and pepper, then add about a teaspoonful salad oil very gradually, a drop at a time, stirring hard and constantly, till the sauce is thick and smooth. Stir in 2 tablespoonfuls lemon juice, 1 tablespoonful tomato ketchup, a tablespoonful chopped olives, and a pinch of red pepper.

Curry Dressing

Mix thoroughly $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoonful curry powder, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoonful salt, a pinch of pepper, and a dessert-spoonful onion juice. Add, gradually, 3 tablespoonfuls salad oil and 1 tablespoonful tarragon vinegar. Use as required.

PRACTICAL RECIPES

Vegetable Curry Soup

One and a half ounce margarine, 1 onion, 2 large apples, or 2 stalks rhubarb, 2 ounces rice, 1 tablespoonful each curry powder and vinegar, 1 carrot, 1 small turnip, the white part of 2 leeks, a sprig each of parsley and thyme, a bay leaf (herbs tied in muslin), the usual seasoning, a little lemon juice. Wash and cut up the vegetables and rhubarb. If apples are used, peel, core, and chop. Boil the rice as for curry, melt the margarine in a saucepan, and in it fry the onion, add the curry.

Mix and add the vegetables and rhubarb. Shake the pan, and stir the contents; add rice and vinegar, then add 2 quarts of water, seasoning, and lemon juice.

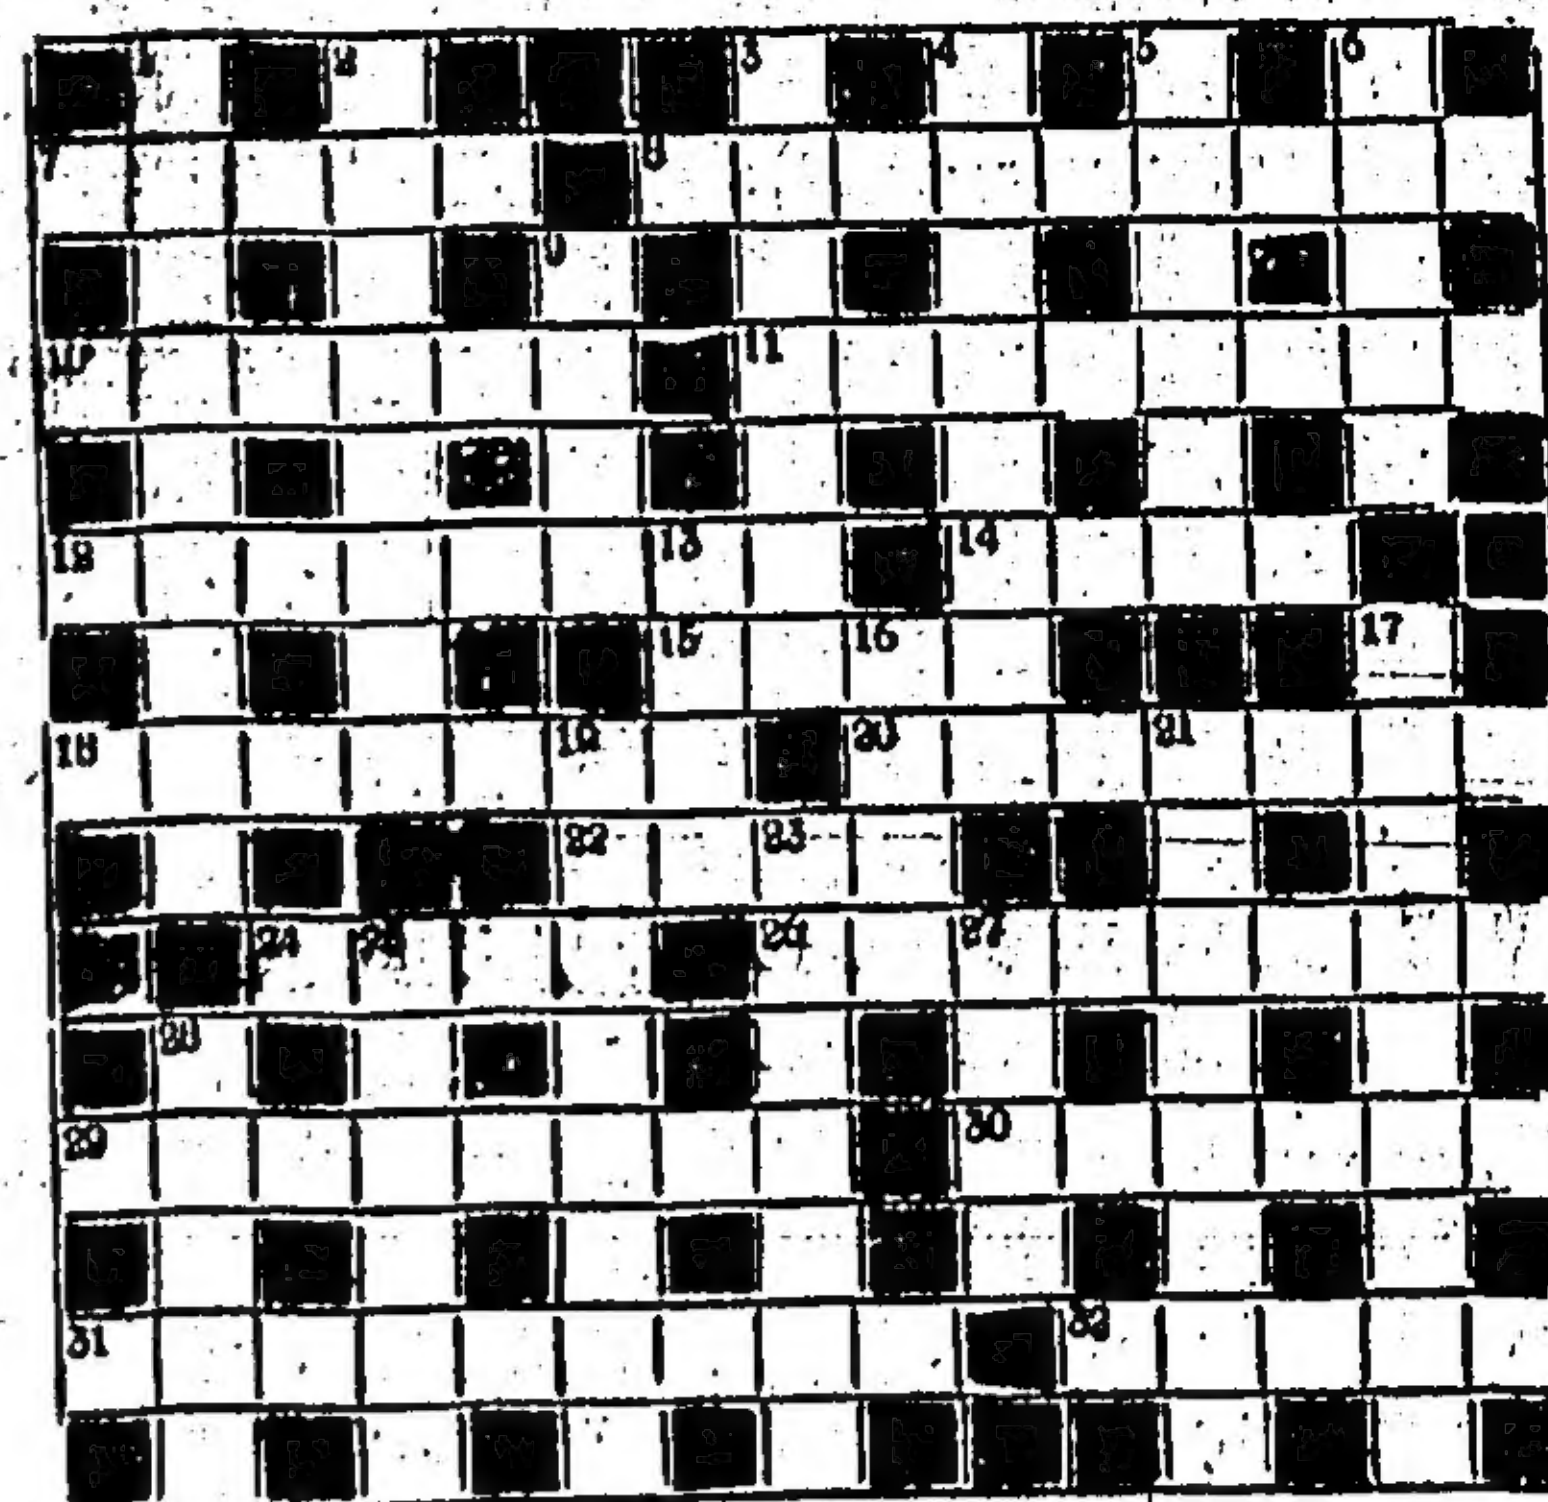

Simmer for 2 hours. Remove muslin bag of herbs, and strain the soup through a sieve; return all to the pan, and heat up. Serve with toasted bread cut into strips.

Onion juice may be easily obtained by sprinkling sugar over some sliced onion and leaving for an hour or two.

Orange Salad Dressing

Beat together 4 tablespoonfuls salad oil and 2 tablespoonfuls vinegar, season with salt and pepper, and add a green pepper, seeded and chopped, a small orange peeled and cut in very small pieces, and $\frac{1}{2}$ dozen olives, chopped. Serve with a green salad.

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

MONICA O'DARE, beautiful, poor and 20, is in love with DAN CARDIGAN who belongs to one of Belvedere's rich families. Monica works to help support her mother, her younger sister, KAY, and brother, MARK. When BILL, an older brother, is arrested at the garage where he works, Monica goes to his aid. She gets in touch with CHARLES EUSTACE, handsome newcomer to town, who she is sure will help her.

CHAPTER VI

Bill said, "I'm not blabbing, see?" He said, "She's just a girl I know. She's all right. Sure, she's got a husband. What does that matter? She's just a friend of mine."

Bill, blustering beneath his fright, Bill, pale and big-eyed. Monica touched his hand. "I know. But it will help—lots—it you can prove you weren't with that crowd last night."

Bill set his jaw stubbornly. "I'm not dragging any girl into this. Don't you worry. I'll all come out right. They're crazy, all of them. They know I had nothing to do with it."

Monica stifled her exasperation. She must make him see what it meant to all of them!

"All right then," she said steadily. "You don't care what happens to Mother?"

She had made a dent in his armor—she could see that.

"Don't talk foolish," Bill commanded her sternly. "You know I do."

"Mother's sick," Monica told him. "She's hardly able to sit up, she's so worried. She won't eat. Dr. Waterman has given her some sleeping medicine."

Bill stared straight ahead. Monica sat there, despairing, as Charles Eustace, detached and friendly, smoked his pipe and paced up and down.

Suddenly there was a commotion in the outer room. A small whirlwind burst through. A slip of a girl with flying, yellow hair above extraordinarily plucked eyebrows.

"Where is he?" she demanded. "Oh, Bill. What a sap you are!"

Bill looked sheepish. The girl—she couldn't have been 20—whirled about and stared at Monica and Charles Eustace.

"Isn't he a nut?" she gurgled. "Acting like a movie hero just because he doesn't want to say he took me home from the Inn last night. Course I was there with Bill. Those big boxes breezed up to our table and tried to get fresh and he told them to light out. That was all. Imagine Jimmy Garvan trying to say Bill had a 'conference' with them! She mimicked the policeman with a diabolical effect. She told Bill, 'I gave Jimmy Garvan something to think about! Anyhow they've just caught the gang over at Newton Centre and everybody knows you're out of it.'"

"You—you're simply fine to do this for us!" Monica cried, her eyes shining.

"Fine!" The girl patted the plants of her pink sweater suit carelessly. "Why, I'd do anything for Bill. He knows that." She looked coy.

Bill said, "You should have kept out of this. There'll be all kinds of talk."

"What do I care?" asked the yellow-haired girl, airily. "Mo and Stan are splitting up anyhow. What's the diff? Stan knows I have dates—he does, himself. Stan," she told Bill confidentially, "is going to Cleveland next week. He's got a job."

"He is?" This was Bill, a now, ardent Bill, unaware that such people as his sister and her escort existed. "No fooling?"

Two uniformed men interrupted the scene. One said, gruffly, "You're all washed up, young feller. You can go home now."

It was as simple as that. A moment before Bill had been in the hands of the law. Now he was released. The oddly assorted quartet left the building.

Charles Eustace said, "I can drop all you people wherever you say."

Bill, remembering his manners rather belatedly, announced: "This is Angie Gillen. My sister, Mr. Eustace."

The girl, Angie, flicked her lashes at Charles Eustace and smiled at Monica. "No need of dropping me any place," she said cheerily. "I ran over in the old bus, indicating a shabby touring car at the curb. Bill helped her in and there was a moment's low-voiced confusion."

"You run along and I'll see you to-morrow," Angie concluded. She whirled the engine into a fury of commotion and barged off with a rattle of fenders. Bill, rather deflated now, climbed into the back seat of Eustace's car.

Monica's first emotion was of joy, pure and simple. To have Bill free—vindicated—was enough. But she hated having to tell her mother of the state of Bill's affections. A married woman! Mrs. O'Dare, who had old fashioned notions of propriety, wouldn't like that. In a town the size of Belvedere the affair amounted to a virtual scandal. Well, there was no use worrying about that now!

She fancied the few people they passed on the street glanced at them curiously. Well, the true story would be about soon enough. Still there would always be people to remember that Bill O'Dare had been arrested once upon a time. She couldn't help that. It was no good worrying about it.

Bill said suddenly, "Drop me at the garage a minute, will you?" Monica understood. He wanted to see Mr. Harnett, to know if his job was safe.

Presently she was alighting from the car at her own door.

"Don't forget about that dinner engagement," Charles Eustace reminded her with his faintly-ironical smile.

She caught her breath. She had utterly and completely forgotten it.

"I'll be here for you, as I said."

She rushed up the walk. "Mother, it's all right! They got the thieves—and Bill is free!"

Kay came out of the kitchen, a tea towel in her hand. Kay looked pale and sullen. "She's upstairs," Monica ran up, taking two steps at a time.

"It's all been fixed," Bill stopped at the garage. He'll be home in a minute."

Mrs. O'Dare was sitting up in bed, looking fragile and weary among the pillows. It was so strange to see her vigorous, active parent in bed during the day that Monica had to choke back an instinctive feeling of alarm.

No, she would not tell her about Angie Gillen just now. She needn't. That could come later.

"Yes, I had some tea," her mother said in response to a question. "Kay made it. Suppose you run down and have a bite yourself. You missed your lunch."

Monica realized now she was hungry. Almost faint with it. It had been a tiring, and unbearably exciting day. She flung her hat on the bed, pushed back the damp ringlets of hair around her white forehead, looked at herself in the glass with grave dissatisfaction. She experienced the inevitable reaction of the person who has been struggling for hours, toward a goal and suddenly, unexpectedly reaches it. What, she thought dully, did it all matter anyway? Life was just a battle for her. It was going to be harder and harder as time went on. Bill was on the brink of an affair. Kay was discontented. Her own affair with Dan was going badly.

"It's all so—so hopeless," she whispered to her image in the glass.

Then she squared her shoulders. She had to be courageous for the others. She couldn't show the white feather. She went downstairs.

"Kay! How about a cup of tea?"

The younger girl, lovely even in her sullenness, in spite of the lines of dissatisfaction etching themselves about her charmingly mouth, rose from the sitting room couch.

"I made some a few minutes ago. Want it fresh?"

Monica said in a voice which she made cheerful with a decided effort, "I certainly do. Be a good girl and fix it for me. I'm half dead."

"The way you go dashing around!" said Kay in a coldly contemptuous tone. "You make me sick, you do. If I were you I'd let Bill O'Dare fight his own battles. Getting us into this mess—"

Monica stared at her indignantly. "What on earth are you talking about? I never heard such nonsense. As if families oughtn't to stand together! And besides, it wasn't Bill's fault."

Kay was really too silly. They had petted her, babied her, and now she was horribly spoiled. Was it too late to do anything about it? Was she so deeply steeped in her own selfishness that she couldn't see anyone's side but her own?

"I'm disappointed in you," Monica went on coldly. "No, don't bother to make the tea. I can get my own, thank you."

Kay followed her into the kitchen. A slightly placating note had crept into her voice now. If she offended Monica, too gravely it meant, perhaps, a cutting off of privileges—less pocket money.

"I didn't mean that we ought not stand together," she said. "Only—well, I get sick of it all. Being poor and not having any decent clothes or knowing the right people—"

"I suppose I don't!" Monica blazed, muffing her voice so that its angry tone should not reach the woman above stairs. "I suppose you think I like all this. I suppose you think I never have a thought that doesn't include buying you a new dress and rushing down to the store on time."

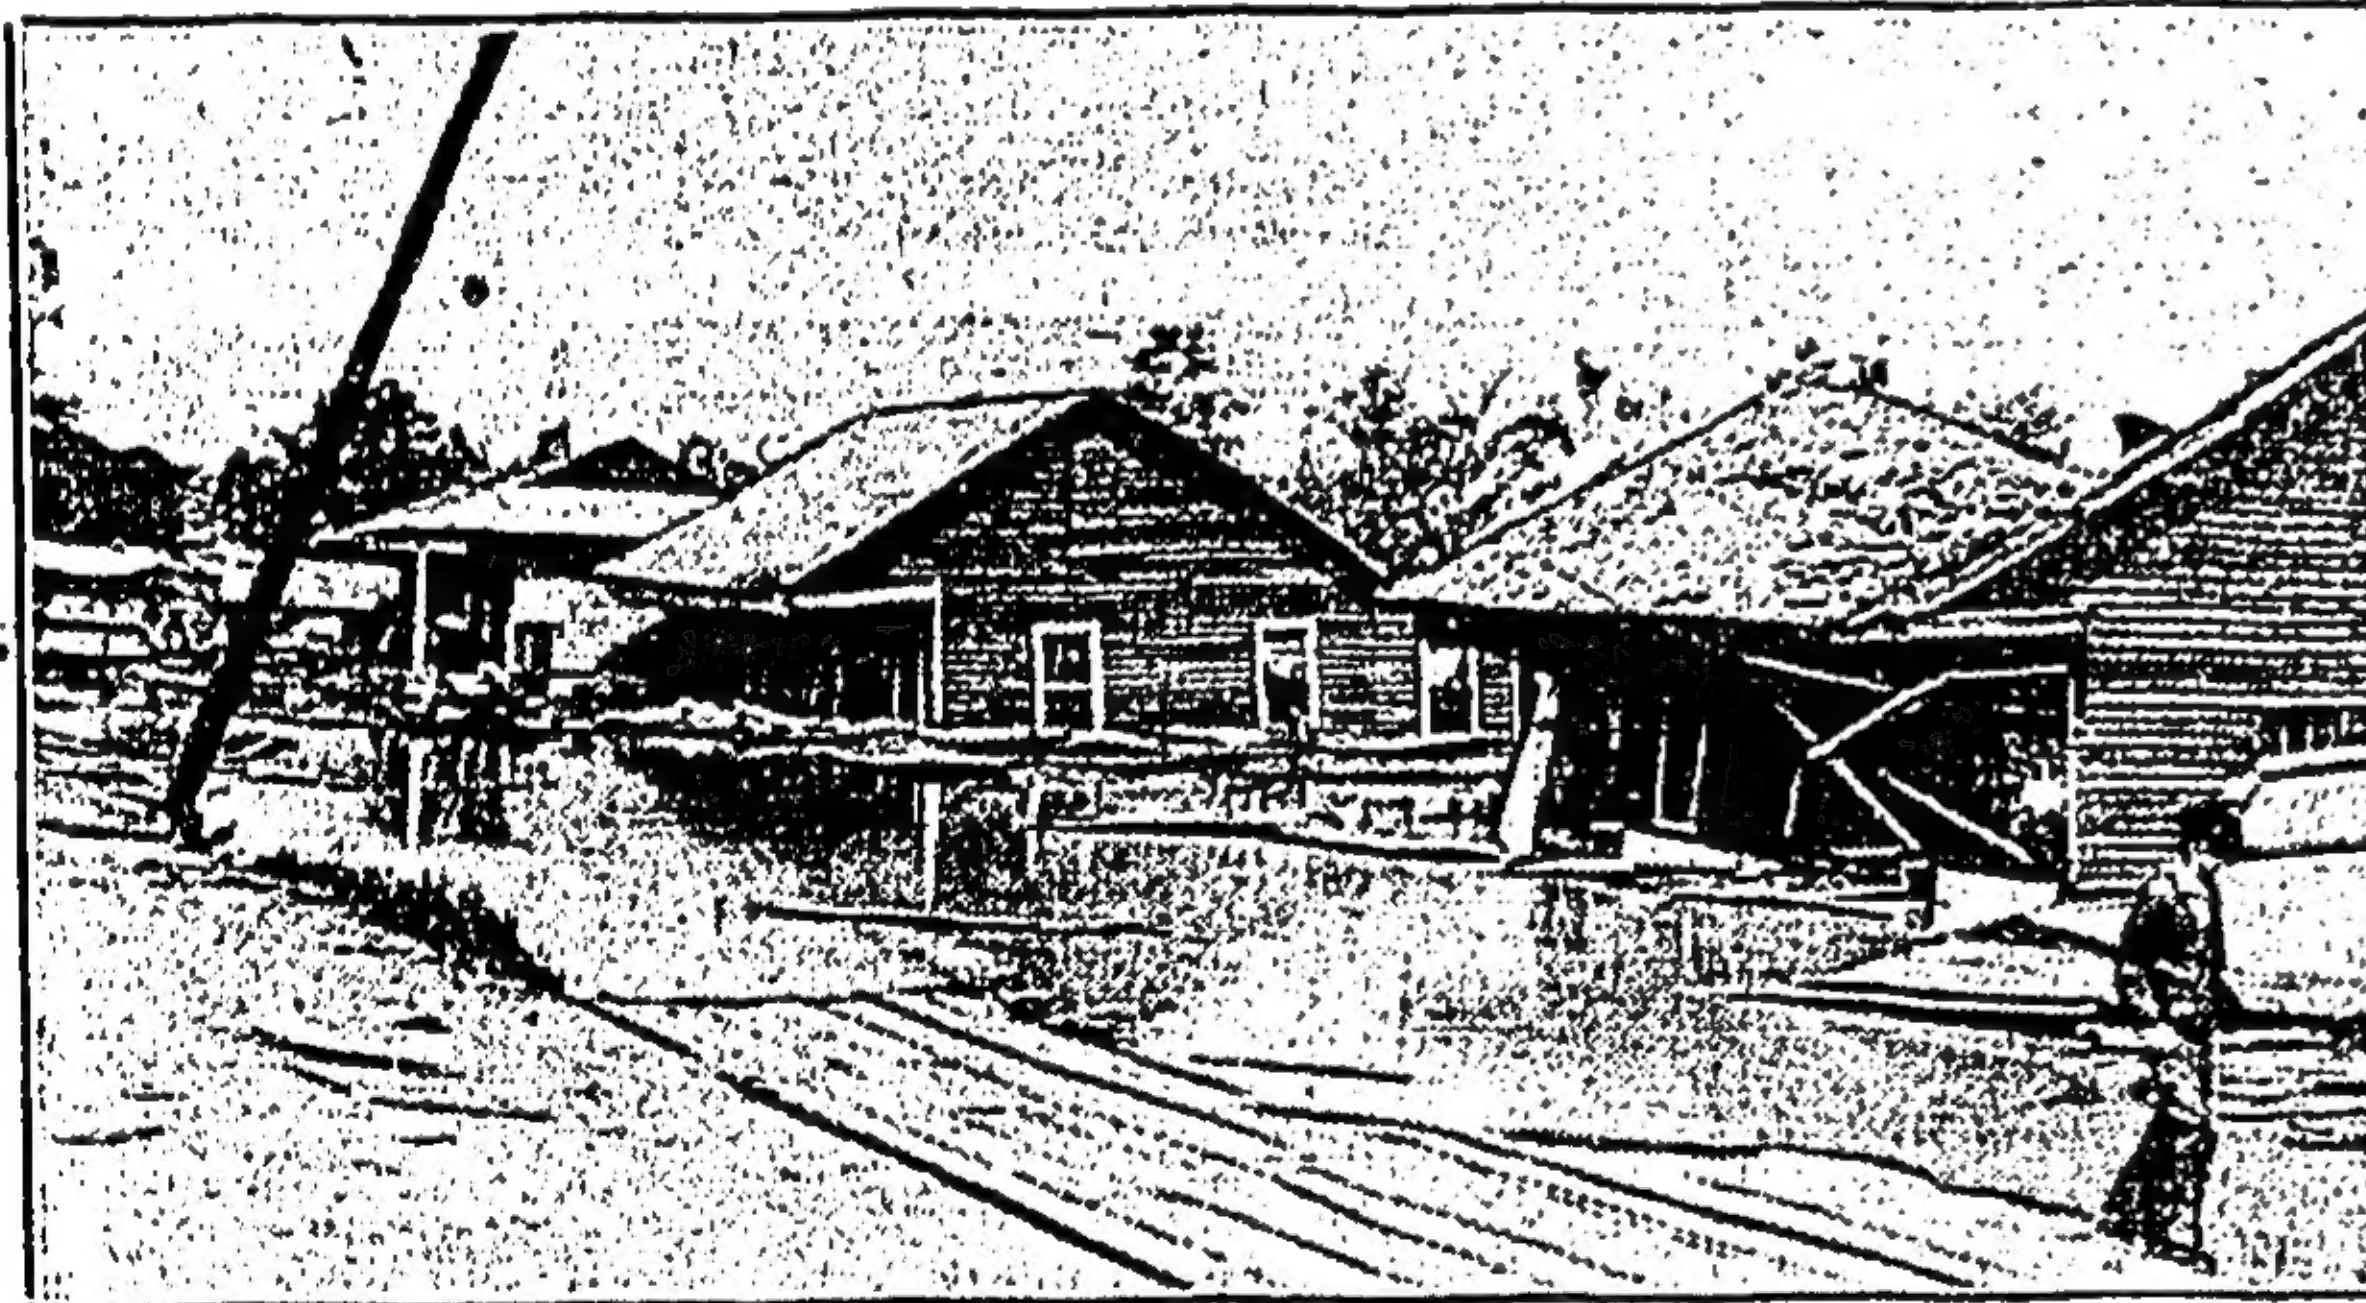

In her white face her great amber eyes glowed feverishly. An angry sob choked her. Kay frankly stared. It wasn't like Monica to flare out at her this way. Monica—why she was supposed to comfort Kay whenever anything went wrong. Kay's pretty lips parted to show her exquisite teeth. She gasped.

"I tell you," Monica went on in a half whisper, "I'm sick and tired of it all. If it weren't for Mother, I'd clear out of here to-morrow—"

Gales that swept the mid-section of the United States, reaching tornado force in many areas and causing a death toll of more than 100, struck Chicago's environs after a heavy hail storm. The picture shows a wrecked high school near Elgin, Ill.

Tornadoes sweeping over large areas in the South took a toll of more than 100 lives. In Mississippi the twisters added to flood distress. Homes already inundated at Yazoo City are shown here after a tornado had wrecked them.

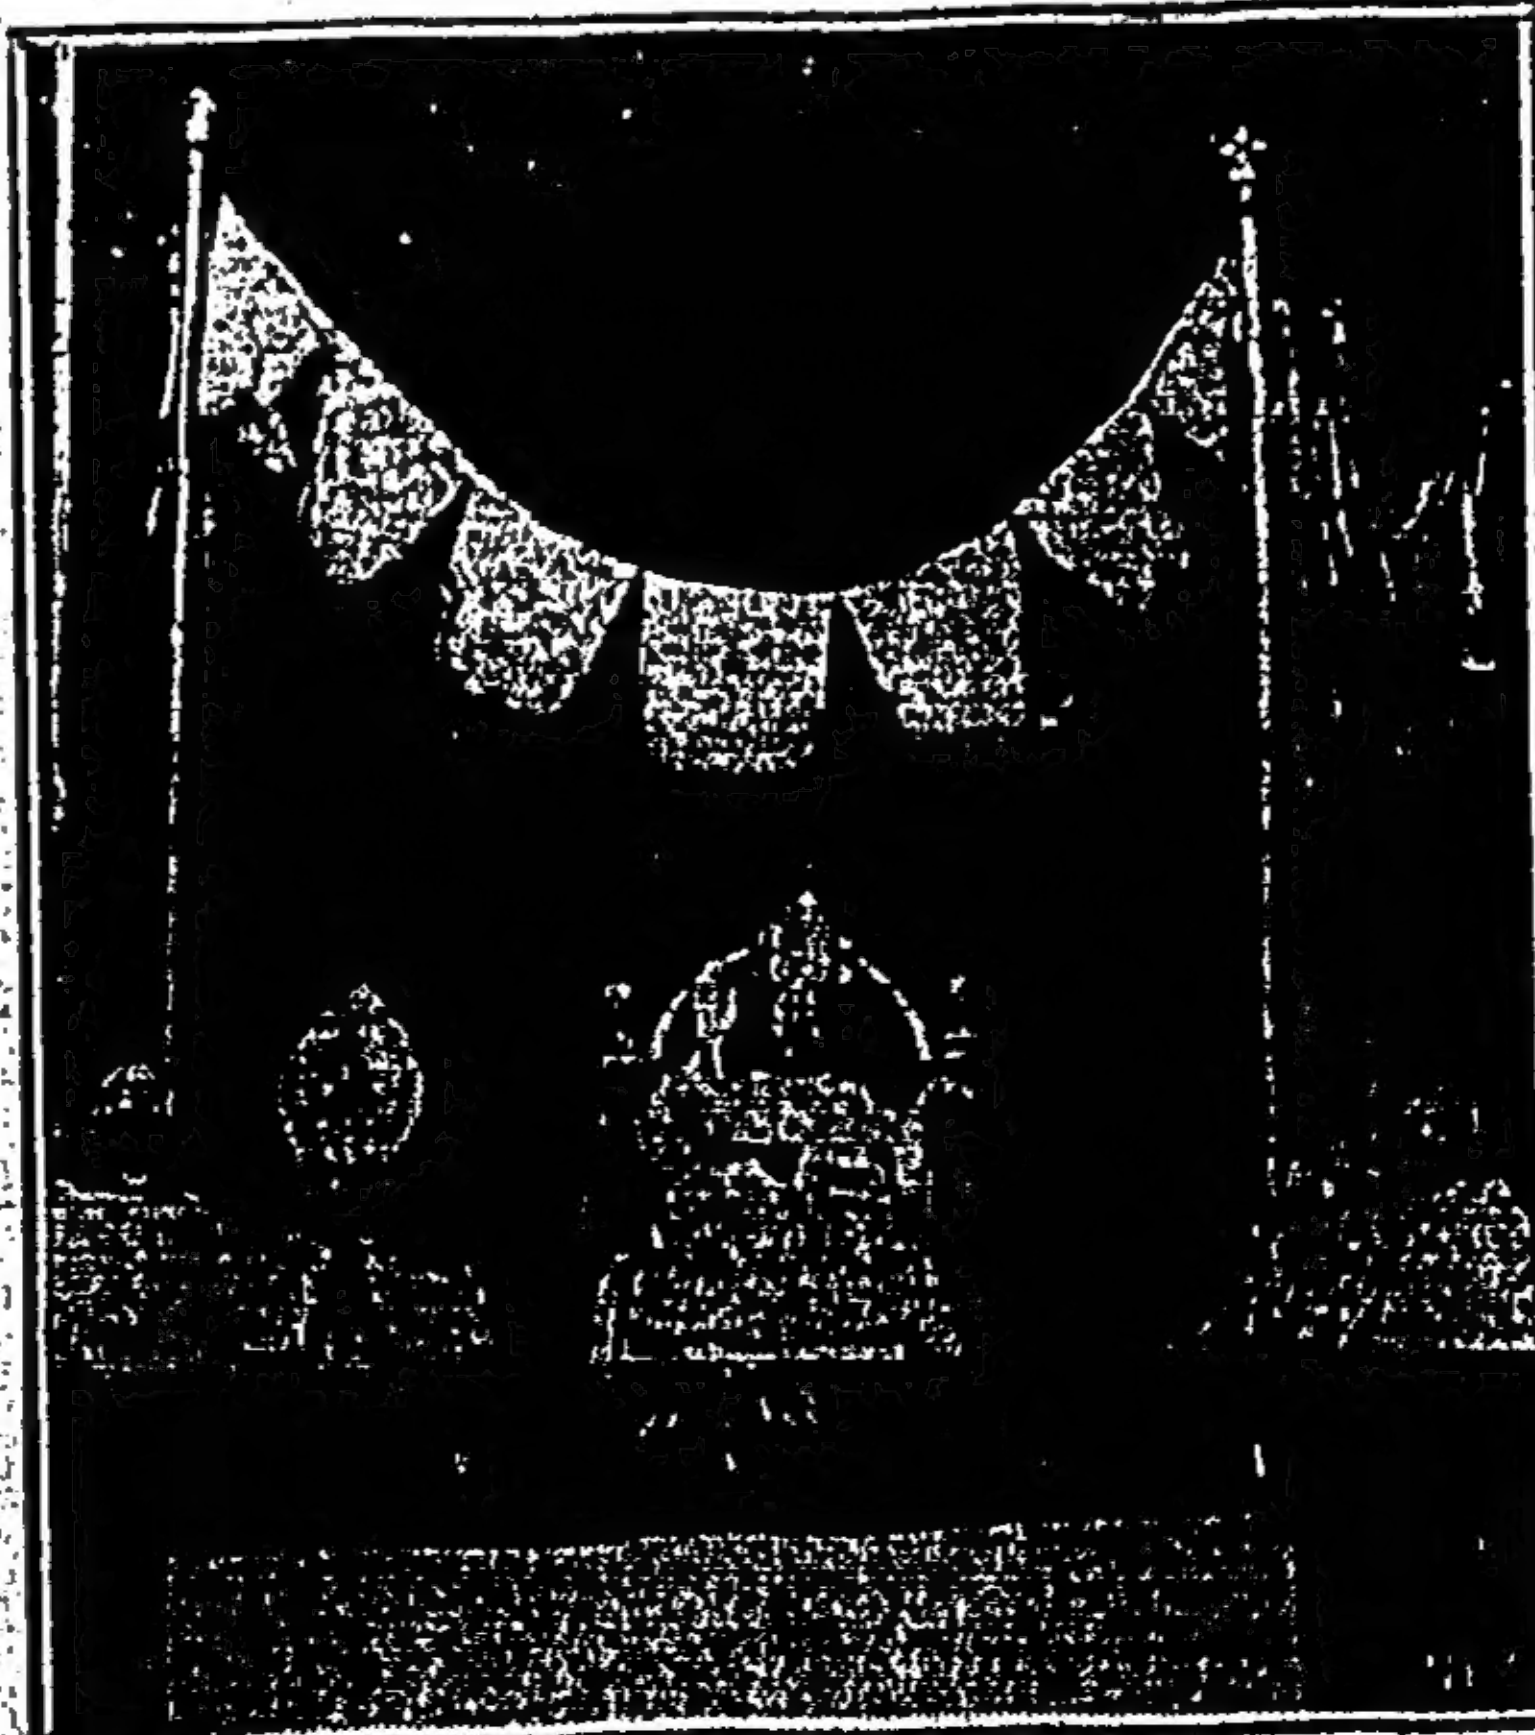

A free-for-all fight between players and fans flared in the final game of the initial series between the New York Yankees and Washington Senators in Griffith Stadium, Washington, after Ben Chapman, Yankee left fielder, and Buddy Myer, Senator second baseman, came to blows on the field. Here you see police reserves quelling the melee in which hundreds of spectators joined. Jimmy Burke, Yankee coach is seen being held back by a fan. Chapman, Myer, and Earl Whitfield, Washington player, were suspended indefinitely.

Federal Judge James A. Lowell (above), of Boston, Mass., became the target for attack in Congress when he freed a Negro, George Crawford, wanted in Virginia on murder charges, holding that Negroes do not serve on juries in Virginia and that any conviction obtained against the suspect would be reversed by the U. S. Supreme Court.

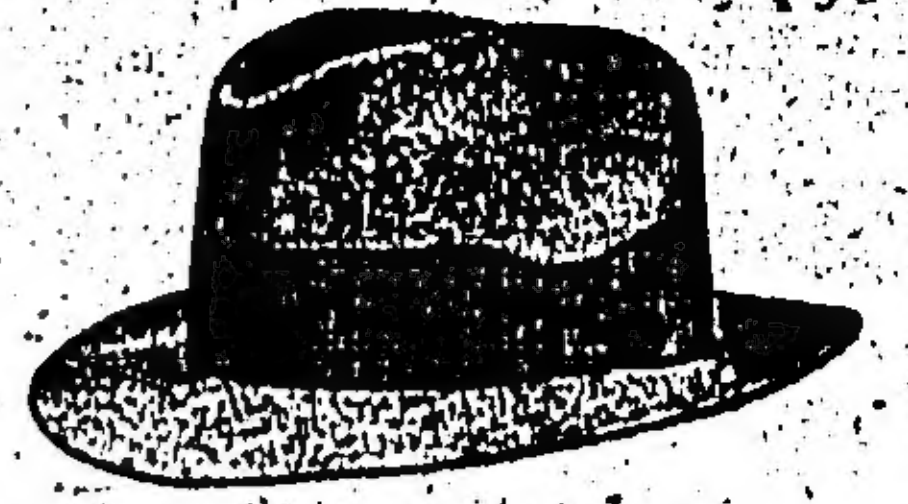

Kathleen Smythe (above), actress, have filed suit in New York demanding $100,000 from Fay Webb Vallee, estranged wife of the crooning Rudy Vallee alleging that Fay stole the affections of Gary Leon, dancer.

Two hundred thousand pilgrims from all parts of the world had before St. Peter's cathedral in Vatican City, Rome, as Pope Pius XI, from his throne on the balcony as pictured here, bestowed his Easter benediction upon them and the world.

POST OFFICE ROBOT

REVOLUTIONISING A DEPARTMENT

WONDER MACHINE

London.
Everybody knows about last year's great conversion scheme by which the five per cent. War Loan became a 3½ per cent stock. But what the public has not known is that because of that scheme the Post Office carried out a conversion scheme of its own. It revolutionised a department and saved money for the Treasury. What the Post Office did was to mechanise the office in Hammer-smith which deal with the stock and the issue of dividend warrants.

There are 1,000,000 war stock holders and every year over three million warrants are issued. A small army of clerks were employed before December to enter the registers and keep the accounts. At the beginning of that month the opportunity was taken "cut out" the writing of dividends and the entry by hand of particulars of the hold.

It is all done by machinery now. THE MACHINE.
A wonder machine—British made and constructed to the special requirements of the department—was installed and it only needs to be tended by one clerk.

This is what happens:—
A young woman sits at a punching machine. In the machine is placed a card with hundreds of letters and figures which make no sense at all to the inexperienced. A few taps of the machine with the left hand and out comes the card clearly perforated in about twenty places.

It still means nothing to the inexperienced. But then it is placed in the wonder machine and then on an unending roll, and the name of the holder of the stock, the amount of the holding, the dividend due and the other particulars of the accounts are clearly and neatly tabulated. At any moment one can stop the machine and tell it to add up. Errors are impossible.

IS CAPITALISM DOOMED?

The verdict of Mr. Frederick Cope's instructive articles upon the intolerable economic situation which faces the world to-day is that Capitalism, as we know it, is doomed. And there are few people who would suggest, after the experiences of the past three years, that a Capitalism which means industrial anarchy deserves to survive. Its place must ultimately be taken by centralised, Government-controlled economic planning, comprehensively organised to cover every sphere of activity and designed in the interests of nations, instead of financiers. Close observers of current economic theories cannot have failed to notice the growing tendency of the experts to lean, however gingerly, towards Communism as the solution of the world's problems, although State Capitalism and State Socialism both have strong advocates. Not one, however, attempts to hide the fact that no attempt to bolster up the present economic system is likely to have any lasting effect. The World Economic Conference which was opened with much ceremonial on Monday afternoon is, for this reason, it is held, a needless intervention in normal developments. The delegates are not ready for the drastic changes which are essential. They seek to restore prosperity along the old lines when, it must be obvious, the utmost that can be achieved is to save Capitalism for a greater fall at some future date. The problems which have been so forcibly brought to the attention of the whole world in the last three years are the logical result of the existing monetary and economic systems and will merely intensify as labour-saving devices simplify the means of production of goods. The issue has to be faced, sooner or later. And unless we are to despair of the efficacy of reason in human affairs, it might just as well be sooner or later. It is for this reason that Mr. Cope's fifth article, published to-day, is particularly interesting. It ventures a solution which places the entire control of industrial production and activity in Government hands, while preserving individualism in the cogs of the industrial machine. We do not need to enlarge upon the scheme, which while not worked out to the final details, is sufficiently self-explanatory in principle. And subject to modifications, it is undoubtedly feasible, having once accepted the proposition that the existence of the ultra-financier is a check to organised prosperity, that selfish interests can have no place in the world of the future. A tentative move in the direction suggested by Mr. Cope is, in fact, already being made in the United States under the plan worked out by President Roosevelt's advisers and leaders of business to join government and industry in an effective "partnership." The immediate aim is a united front in the battle against the depression. But the long-range purpose is to prepare the way to bring order out of economic chaos and to establish in America a larger measure of social justice. The proposals for regulating prices, wages, hours of labour and conditions of competition go far beyond anything so far attempted anywhere but in Russia. It is designed to help the more enlightened and progressive elements in every industry. It will uphold their hands in maintaining fair competition and ending price and wage cutting. By relaxing the anti-trust laws it will make trade associations more effective instruments of self-government. Under the plan the Government, through an Industrial Control Board, will ask all trade associations to adopt codes establishing their own standard for prices, wages, hours and conditions of competition. The Board would have authority to assist in drawing up a satisfactory code and would protect the rights of workers and public. Then the Board would act as policeman to see that the code was observed. Enforcing discipline in such a field is a delicate and difficult business. But the alternative is continued anarchy. Lack of discipline means wasteful competition, opportunity for the unscrupulous and oppression for the weak. It means recurring depressions. Undoubtedly the experiment will show the need for improved methods. It can be only part of the solution in any case. A vast section of industry is not organised in trade associations. But business leaders, economists and some of the wisest members of the Roosevelt Administration have carefully mapped out the present plans. There is reason to hope that they will bring more order into the working of capitalism. Possibly they will lead the way to such a regeneration as will enable what is good in the system to survive, revolving round the question: how far can you go in encouraging the profit motive, the initiative of the individual, and at the same time preserve for the community the greatest benefits of the efforts of all individuals.

A New Departure for Old Latin

The pliability of Latin to modern usage was recently revealed in an article in the magazine of a well-known English grammar school. Under a heading entitled "A New Departure," the article made use of some of the crudest examples of modern slang and wrapped them up in the rich phraseology of the ancient language—upsetting the opinion of certain boys in senior classes, who have frequently questioned the modern value of their exercises. The article dealt with "Duo Rigidi vel Vindicato Veri," which, being freely translated, is, "The Two Stiffs, or, the Triumph of Justice," and the modern Latinist used his art with skill. "Duo rigidi" (two stiff), it said, lay on their backs ("lata in via") in Broadway. "Murmurant fila" (the wires hummed) and soon a police squad arrived. Said one officer, "Hi posteriores in loco positi sunt" (these have been put on the spot), to which the other policeman replies, "Id dixisti, frater. Hoc municipium aliquanto calidum sit." (You've sure said it brother. This burg is getting some hot). A description of the two men discovers that they are Ludovicus Sinister or Lefty Louis, and Marcus Gracilis, otherwise Slim Marks. The former, when he works, is a "canum calidum mercator ab oriente parte"—a hot dog merchant on the East Side. The other "facile loquendum in ducentesima quinquagesima sexta currit"—runs a speakeasy. Finally, the crowd disperses, "para ad mensa prandii praecipitis," some to quick-lunch counters; some to the movies, for such is the life of that people—"quidam ad spectacula centesima, alia ad moventia, sic enim populus in vivere solet." After this who shall say that the ancient Latin tongue cannot deal with up-to-date matters?

WORLD CRISIS

V: PEERING INTO THE FUTURE: A PLAN AT THE TENTH ECONOMIC PARLEY

BY FREDERICK COPE, A.M.I.E.E.

(This, the fifth article of the series by a local contributor, peers into the future and suggests a development of a Plan for overcoming the faults of the present economic system, by a modified form of State Capitalism.)

We were capable of projecting ourselves into the future, we might hear, at the Tenth World Economic Conference, the delegate of Britain, America, Germany, France or of some other industrial country, address the gathering thus:

"I have been instructed by my government to lay before you an account of certain internal economic changes which are taking place in my country.

"We have been forced to the decision that it is futile to continue further discussion, and experiment, on the present economic structure. My Government, after perusing the reports of the last Conference, in which they could discern no substantial progress, decided to act independently as the question to them was one of extreme urgency. Circumstances would not permit them to wait longer for the ultimate findings of this series of Conferences.

"Sufficient had already occurred to convince them that the subject had now developed into one upon which argument and contention would continue indefinitely, there being so many personal interests vitally affected.

"It was also felt, as far as we ourselves were concerned, that if the question was still left to the ordinary political machinery of our own Constitution, a considerable time must elapse before even an approach to a general agreement could be reached. Immediate decision on the matter for us was imperative. In consequence, a departure was made from all precedent and an unique method adopted.

"TERMS OF REFERENCE."

"It was resolved to submit the problem to the most competent man the country could provide. Whatever scheme this man proposed, the Government would undertake to adopt at once, and without modification, or question.

"The Terms of Reference laid down for him were—
"An alteration is required to our present Economic System, which will immediately restore prosperity to our people. The alteration must have due regard of the present social order and trends."

"Every important professional, industrial, commercial, financial, educational, and social institution, was instructed to elect and send one representative to a Conference. At this Conference views were expressed but not discussed. The Conference then elected the man whom they considered to be the most competent amongst themselves, for the purpose of preparing a nationwide Scheme.

"The Scheme is now an accomplished fact; it meets with general approval and has been adopted as our policy. I will endeavour to indicate a general outline.

"The Expert's Report opened out in a most extraordinary manner. Like a tutor standing over a pupil struggling with an equation, it pointed out that the matter was simple. There was a factor in the equation which should not be there. Remove it, and try again, which the pupil does, realising the self-evidence of the error, and then smiling at his past foolishness.

"The Report contains an impassioned plea for the recognition of true facts only, and strict avoidance of anything supported by the narrow views of self interest.

BLOODSUCKING PARASITE.

"It then continues 'Wealth has two factors and only two. Energy is responsible for the manifestation of goods and services. It needs material, but no "monetary financing." Under the present system "monetary financing" is forced upon it. This function of money in itself possesses nothing creative; in fact, it has no reality; it is simply an expression of mind, which is deflated or inflated, as fear or confidence in it is evident. It has been created and placed as a bloodsucking parasite on the economic system. It creates debts for its own purpose, then extorts payment, and gives no service. Money itself has no power to earn. If a man takes a risk with his money, he certainly requires compensation for that risk, but in a well regulated system of production, no risk in terms of money is incurred."

"From the logic of the Report, we believe that trading of the future can only be done in goods and services. We have concluded that the era of creating and trading in money and debts, as the premier business, is quickly drawing to a close and that the prolific productivity of the times will in the future insistently impede all operations of this nature.

"We are also of the opinion that if the present practice is persisted in, of subjugating the interest of legitimate trade in goods and services, for the purpose of supporting trade in money, and debts, there is a danger that it will cause a degree of social unrest which is likely to shake the foundations of our present civilization."

"When formulating the Terms of Reference, we recognised that we could not close our eyes to this fact, that succeeding generations will require a better distribution of wealth than at present exists, and any scheme, as a subsidiary feature, should automatically graduate to this end. It was also desired to interfere as little as possible with the economic and social conditions and standards as now accepted.

"In view of the fact that 80% of our total trade was our own internal trade, the Expert in his Report decided that the first step to economic recovery was to devise machinery whereby this trade could be set in motion and the maximum advantage obtained from it.

CONTROL OF WEALTH.

"In order to achieve this end it was felt that steps would have to be taken to control the amount of wealth created, and apportion how much of that amount had to be retained for productive purposes and how much had to be made available for distribution, for consumption and utility purposes.

"It has been necessary to take a survey of all service and productive capacity in industrial plant, land, transport, and other public services.

"The rate of production and service, over the last few years have been scheduled, and permission to continue at this rate has been given to the existing operators and producers, the government reserving—all further rights of service and productive capacity above the figures so allotted. The right to produce further any commodity or provide any service, in other words to operate "earning capacity" will be offered for public tender. The Government will provide, and maintain the plant. Tenders will be for a specified number of years, depending on the type of product or service. Any person or body of persons may tender.

SPENDING MONEY.

"The old currency has been withdrawn, and a new one substituted. (Continued on Next Column.)

"I finally won back what I was out, but to-day I can hardly stay awake."

The Very Idea!

THESE FEBRILE PLOTS

By Eddie Kelly, Three Star.

WE went to the pictures last night and saw "What Price Hollywood." Films about Hollywood are all the craze just now, just as, a few months ago, films about the wild and woolly jungle were the rage.

THE first rage were films of the wide, open spaces, where men are free, and woman are freer.

Then we had the eternal triangle series where men were captives and women were captivated.

Now that Douglas Fairbanks is coming to Hongkong with a hundred players, we may expect to see the pendulum swing, and Hollywood will go Oriental with a vengeance.

In order to help Doug, out, we are going to prepare a scenario for his first picture. It will be a real Chinese picture, and will be very inscrutable.

Watching our story will be like eating Chinese chow; funny little bits will keep appearing in the wrong places.

The villain will threaten the heroine with something very inscrutable, when the hero will rush into the room for his last minute rescue.

The hero and the villain will glare at each other inscrutably, and then the fight will be on. Something will go wrong with the heroes inscrutableness half way through the fight, and for a moment all will be lost. But, for love us, a hero never loses his inscrutableness for long in a fight, and after a few breath-taking inscrutable minutes, it will be resumed, and the hero will paste the stuffing—pardon, the inscrutableness—out of the villain.

And so the picture will end, with the hero and heroine living inscrutably ever after.

Which just shows you what an ingenious plot can be worked up when you give it a little thought.

We know all there is to know about Chinese motion pictures. We once interviewed a Chinese actress, Sing Song by name.

Sing Song had turned down countless offers from Hollywood and Elstree.

"Ping pong yat yee lai chi kok mah jhong," she said smilingly when we asked her to give a message to her countless fans throughout the world.

"On second thoughts we decided that it would be best for her to give her message in writing. It was in her best Mandarin style, starting at the top and working down like a grave-digger.

STORY OF THE CONVICT HOLIDAY

HONGKONG LOSES ITS EXCLUSIVENESS

We didn't think Hongkong could keep its place on the map overlong. Look at this message provided by Reuters:

Nairobi.

Strange illustrations of the influence of imprisonment upon the African have been among the evidence put before an Imperial Government Commission on the administration of justice in native cases.

An administrative officer of long experience related that when one native was released from prison after seven years hard labour he complained that after he had served the King faithfully for all that time, he had been "sacked" without adequate reason, or any complaint against the quality of his work.

In another case a native who returned to his reserve after a gaol sentence told an admiring crowd how he had been looked after, fed, and comfortably housed.

He had, however, one complaint, he spoke with enthusiasm of the kindness of the prison authorities in giving him a fine suit of clothes, but complained bitterly that when he left prison his beautiful suit was taken away from him.—Reuters.
But don't laugh. Just snaw.

termed Spending Notes. It was decided that gold basis, particularly for the purpose of internal currency, was entirely unnecessary. The existing currency values of commodities have been adopted as a measure of value. The denominations of the old currency have been retained, but a new feature has been introduced. "All currency notes are dated, and are not valid after 6 months from the (Continued On Page 9.)

NEW TERRITORIES DEVELOPMENT

MORE DEMANDS FOR BUILDING SITES

CULTIVATION OF THE LAND

There is still a big demand for building sites in the New Territories according to the annual report of the Department of District Office North. The report states:—

The demand for building sites for shops and houses continues unabated. A number of bungalow sites were sold near the Castle Peak and Cafeteria beaches during the year. Some bungalows were completed and others were in process of erection. Building at Un Long shows great progress, particularly on the south side of the main road where a row of shops has been practically completed, and before long work will be started on the second row. A large area of foreshore has been reclaimed near Bitter Shataukok and the building of shops on the area is nearly completed. A further area of foreshore was also sold for the same purpose. Some building sites have been sold at Taiipo, for the erection of dwelling houses rather than shops.

CANNING DOUBTS.

There were 327 licences to cultivate pineapple plants current at the end of year as against 230 at the end of 1931; the area under cultivation increasing from 76 acres in 1931 to 122 acres in 1932. This growth is said to be due to the arrival of the ex-Shing Mun villagers who are now persuading their neighbours to take up this form of land-cultivation. The price dropped from $4 to $2 per acre after the passing of regulations during the cholera epidemic forbidding the sale of sliced fruit, pineapple being largely sold cut-up. Efforts so far have failed to persuade persons to start a canning industry in this District. Those who might be expected to undertake it state that there is insufficient fruit grown during the year to supply a factory. They are also not hopeful of being able to compete successfully with the factories in Hongkong, Kowloon and Canton.

NAVAL INTELLIGENCE OFFICER

LIEUT. COMMANDER LANG LEAVING FOR HOME

Lieut. Commander C. J. M. Lang, S.O. (1) H.K. and for Intelligence duties with the Commodore, Hongkong, leaves for home on Saturday on the Kaiser-i-Hind to retire from service. Lieut. Commander Lang passed through the course at the R.N. Staff College and prior to his appointment to the China flag ship, H.M.S. Kent in February 1932, served in the Navy Office, Wellington, as Staff Officer (Operations and Intelligence) for the New Zealand Division of the Navy. He also served in the Second Sea Lord's Office.

Lieut. Commander A. L. Besant, late of H.M.S. Victory has been appointed as successor to Commander Lang and arrives in the Colony to-day by the Rajahpindi.

CATERPILLARS ATTACK PINE TREES

Report by Forestry Department

It is stated in the annual report for 1932 by the Botanical and Forestry Department, that Pine Tree Caterpillars (Dendrolimus punctatus) appeared in large numbers, in various parts of the Colony, throughout the whole year; in some areas the pests died out before maturing, in other areas where the Pines were being stripped, they were collected and buried; the record cold day in March and the cold season generally did not kill off or in any way check the movements of the caterpillars this year. The total weight of those collected and destroyed amounted to 72/3 tons.

JOBLESS CHINESE.

MANY IN JAPAN NEED ASSISTANCE

Nanking, June 13.

The Ministry of Communications is now negotiating with the Overseas Affairs Commission for the transportation to China of 270 unemployed Chinese residing at present at Nagasaki.—Reuter.

Embarrassing Moment For Post Office

SURCHARGE ON OWN INVITATIONS

New York. The U.S. post office department caused quite a lot of embarrassment to those who arranged a dinner in honour of the new Postmaster General, Mr. Farley on May 13.

The invitations were very awkward: Pure linen envelopes, engraved cards, a return envelope for acceptance.

Before posting any of the invitations, the committee was careful to weigh a sample at the postoffice. It fell just within the 6 cents limit. Several hundred invitations were mailed forthwith.

Imagine the committee's chagrin on learning that several of the invitations had reached the addressees with postage-due notices affixed.

It had been rainy in New York for several days and the committee thinks that perhaps the wet weather made the linen envelopes a bit heavy.—Reuter.

solicitors on March 4, they said on your behalf, that "to ask for an apology is absurd."

They also stated that they were prepared to accept service on any proceedings that would be taken against you on these alleged causes of action. The stand taken by you as shown in that letter was clearly indicated, that you were not going to give any apology at all and were ready to go to court and to trial. At the beginning of this action an offer was made in open court to accept an apology and a judgment for nominal damages. They might have been only $1. The plaintiff was quite willing to accept it. Do not these indications show that he was seeking not money but an apology and vindication—I could not say, it is doubtful.

NO REASON.

It is so doubtful that you went so far as to put the contrary to your solicitors. Will you give your reasons?—I cannot.

Why do you suggest it then? Because of his demeanour.

Why do you suggest it then? He went round telling everybody that he was going to sue me for damages. He was telling the staff and others.

May I suggest to you that apart from other matters in this case, the very fact that that question was put to Mr. Adamson in the witness box, shows that you were actuated by malice in the highest degree?—I have no time for malice. I cannot afford it in my job. I was not actuated by malice and Adamson knows it.

May I put it to you that you draw a big salary in your job and if Adamson went round saying that you were bringing the action for the sake of the damages, people would not believe it?—Yes.

MALICE ALLEGED.

And Mr. Adamson being a musician and out of work would be more likely to have believed it if it was said that he was bringing the action for damages?—Yes.

I suggest to you that you were actuated by malice in putting that question?—Absurd. I can give Mr. Adamson notice without any malice or vindictive feeling.

You will agree with me that if that suggestion was believed it would give a totally different aspect to the whole of Mr. Adamson's case?—I cannot see that.

You will not even agree with me on that.

The case is proceeding.

DAY BY DAY NEWS IN BRIEF

YOU MAY BE LIBERAL IN YOUR PRAISE WHERE PRAISE IS DUE: IT COSTS NOTHING; IT ENCOURAGES MUCH.—Horace Mann.

A Chinese, Ho Man-yeo, yesterday jumped from the second floor of a house at Queen's Road West, after having been dying in hospital from a fractured skull.

A curious mishap was reported yesterday, when Cheong Wa, a school boy, while sitting with his legs dangling over the side of the steam-launch Fung Foo, alongside the Douglas Laprak Wharf, was caught against the pier through the vessel being edged in by a Socony launch which at that moment was drawing alongside the first. Both Cheong's legs were crushed and he was taken to hospital in a critical condition.

YANKEES NOSED OUT

FREE HITTING BY SENATORS

PHILADELPHIA'S 15

New York, June 13. The New York Yankees sustained a surprise defeat in the American Baseball league to-day when they were nosed out by Boston.

Hildebrand pitched with great effect for Cleveland and blanked out Detroit, while Washington Senators hit freely against Philadelphia.

Philadelphia scored fifteen runs against Brooklyn in the National League, where The Giants also scored a success.

Scores as cabled by Reuter were:

countries which had abandoned the gold standard or which required exchange regulations for the protection of their currencies.

But the Conference in its overwhelming desire to acknowledge common interests have proved most strikingly that all these differences were only differences in appearance. Industry could not prosper if agriculture did not flourish. Creditor could not exist if the debtor perished and vice versa.

FREEDOM OF GOLD. Gold currency became meaningless if the free circulation of gold was not guaranteed. They must find the courage to carry through solutions while remembering that the success of the conference was largely dependant upon the fulfilment of great political tasks.—British Wireless and Reuter.

FARM USED AS DISTILLERY

Paris. A huge secret distillery has been discovered near the town of Lisieux.

Police were interested in what was apparently an ordinary farm in a remote situation—and, by means of a secret entrance, they broke in and found that it was really an elaborate distillery.

The equipment included: Underground "canals" hundreds of yards long.

Vats able to hold more than 22,000 gallons, and

A retort which could distill 110 gallons in a single night.

Distilling operations were carried out only by night.—Reuter.

A SHOCK.BOWLS CHAMPION
DEFEATEDACHIEVEMENT BY A. R. WHIBLEY

On a green made heavy by recent rain, L. A. Gutierrez, champion bowler of the Colony yesterday failed in the second round of the open singles championship when he was beaten by A. R. Whibley, the Kowloon Bowling Green Club player by 22 shots to 11.

This was the biggest surprise of the tournament to date, but Whibley thoroughly merited his achievement, being the more consistent bowler and adopting himself better to the rather difficult conditions.

The scoring was rather spasmodic. Gutierrez scored only on four heads but they gave him eleven shots. After notching a three on the fourth and another three on the sixth, the champion had to wait until the eleventh head before he again came into the limelight, and then he earned a four. This, however, was his last scoring head.

Whibley also indulged in some high scoring heads. He opened with a three on the first, another three on the third and a further three on fifth. After the sixth he missed scoring on one head only, the eleventh, and he went to his points with a series of twos and singles.

The full scores, head by head, are appended to show how the game went:

C. C. SILVA v. R. DUNCAN.

On an adjoining rink on the Kowloon C.C. green C. C. Silva of the Club de Recreio beat R. Duncan of the Kowloon B. G. C., winning by 21 shots to 11.

Silva was leading up to the tenth head, having scored six shots to one at the sixth. At the tenth Duncan made the score eight all but Silva again took the lead and on the 17th head he had scored 18 to nine to win eventually by 21-11.

B. W. BRADBURY v. L. WHANT.

On the Police R.C. green, B. W. Bradbury of the Craigengower C.C. won from L. Whant of the Civil Service C.C. by 21 shots to eleven, the winner playing better bowls than his opponent throughout although Whant got in some nice shots.

W. Glendon of the Police R.C. has given D. Ramjohn of the Craigengower C.C. a walk over.

THE THIRD WIN.

Douglas, Isle of Man, June 12. Stanley Woods, the winner of last year's junior and senior Tourist Trophy motorcycle races, won to-day's Junior Race riding a Norton.

Woods covered the course of 204 miles in three hours and 23 minutes at an average speed of 78.08 miles an hour. On the sixth lap he broke the Junior lap record by covering the distance at a speed of 79.22 miles an hour.

Percy Hunter who was second, also on a Norton was seven seconds behind, his time being 3 hrs. 23 mins. 7 secs., giving an average of 77.98 miles per hour.

Guthrie on a Norton was third in 3 hrs. 20 mins. 50 secs., giving a speed at 76.62 miles an hour.—Reuter Special.

A dinner is being held in honour of the South China Athletic Association football teams, on Saturday next, at 7.30 p.m., in the Association rooms, China Building. The teams won the League and Shield Championships and the Lai Wah and International Cups of the season 1932-33.

ANOTHER BATTING ORGY
IN COUNTY
CRICKET CHAMPIONSHIP

15 THREE-FIGURE INNINGS

London, June 13.

Further phenomenal scoring marked the county cricket programme during the last three days, bowlers having a most unfruitful time.

Five batsmen topped the 200 mark and ten others reached three figures.

Bakewell, the Northants batsman, scored his second double century in successive matches, last week hitting up 246 against Nottingham.

For out of the seven county matches produced outright results, among them being another innings victory for Yorkshire who have conceded points in one match only to date.

Sussex, Derby and Kent returned to winning form. Derby scoring a sensational victory by an innings after facing a score of 346.

RUNS ORGY.

Three matches produced over 1,000 runs and two others aggregated over 900 runs each. In the Glamorgan v. Northants game, 1,071 runs were scored for 17 wickets, an average of 63 runs per wicket, whilst Lancashire and Surrey totalled 1,012 runs for 19 wickets, an average of 53 runs per wicket.

Surrey had an astonishing experience. Batting first they treated the Lancashire attack with scant respect and piled up a score which looked good enough to give them either an outright win or at least first innings points.

The scoreboard showed 478 before the last wicket fell, and Lancashire had had three centuries hit against them. Gregory (142), F. R. Brown (108) and Squires (101) claimed the runs.

But Lancashire were even more severe and with everybody scoring runs, and Washbrook leading the way with 162, Surrey found their finished with 78 runs of the Welshmen's total.

Bakewell hit up a magnificent 257, this being his second double century in successive matches.

R.S.G. Scott played a true captain's part in the victory of Sussex against Hampshire, contributing 118 to the Sussex score of 277 which allowed them to gain a useful lead of 120 on the first innings. In the end Sussex won comfortably by eight wickets.

RESULTS AT A GLANCE

COUNTY CHAMPIONSHIP.

Sussex (277 and 108-2) beat Hampshire (157 and 178) by eight wickets
Derby (508-7 dec.) beat Leicester (346 and 85) by an innings and 77 runs
Lancashire (534-9) beat Surrey (478) on first innings
Yorkshire (500-9 dec.) beat Worcester (231 and 104) by an innings and 165 runs
Glamorgan (547-6 dec. and 55-1) beat Northants (469) on first innings
Kent (466 and 169-7 dec.) beat Warwick (356 and 161) by 118 runs
Essex (415 and 116-4 dec.) beat Somerset (344 and 61-0) on first innings seemingly unapproachable score passed. Time did not permit of Lancashire completing their innings and at the draw they had scored 534 for 9 wickets.

GOOD CAPTAINCY.

Good captaincy earned Kent a merited success against Warwick. Enjoying a lead of 110 on the first innings, the Hop county's second knock was closed at 169 for 7, and on a worn wicket which had already produced 991 runs, Freeman bowled out Warwick for 161, the spin bowler returning figures of 5 for 52.

Yorkshire thrashed Worcester to win by an innings and 165 runs. Running up the formidable score of 500 for 9 declared, to which Leyland contributed 133 and Mitchell 142, the "Tykes" proceeded to dispose of Worcester in a very short time. They first dismissed them for 231, enforced the follow on and sent them back the second time for 104.

Another astonishing 'orgy' of run-getting, similar to the Surrey-Lancashire match was seen when Glamorgan and Northants met.

Glamorgan rattled up 547 for 6 wickets declared, M. J. Turnbull, the captain, batting brilliantly for an undefeated 200.

BAKEWELL AGAIN.

But Northants proved just as useful with the long handle and

COURTS UNFIT

Another disappointment has been handed the Filipino tennis players.

Gavia and Polintan were to have made their third appearance in exhibition games to-day, when they were scheduled to meet Chinese Recreation Club players at Causeway Bay, but the heavy rains have rendered the courts unfit, and the event has been called off.

The visitors will make no further public appearances for the present in Hongkong as they leave for Shanghai on Friday.

TOUCH AND GOAUSTRALIA JUST BEAT S. AFRICASEMI-FINALISTS IN DAVIS CUP

London, June 13.

Australia has won through to the semi-final of the European Zone of the Davis Cup, but Japan, who will be their opponents can regard their prospects with equanimity as the Australians only just managed to overcome South Africa by the odd rubber.

South Africa made a splendid recovery from a bad start. Losing the first two singles, they won the doubles and V. G. Kirby followed this up by overcoming Vivian McGrath, the "boy wonder" in four sets.

The irrepressible Jack Crawford finally clinched the issue when he beat Robbins in straight sets in the final match of the series.

Kirby, after conceding the first set to McGrath, was always the master and carried off the next three-sets with extraordinary ease.

Crawford was not extended by Robbins, who was unequal to the importance of the occasion and fell in straight sets.

The scores in the concluding rubbers were:
V. G. Kirby (South Africa) beat V. McGrath (Australian) 6-8, 6-0, 6-4, 6-2.

J. Crawford (Australian) beat Robbins (S. Africa) 6-4, 6-1, 6-0.

As a result the following countries will meet in the European Zone semi-finals.

BRITAIN v. CZECHO-SLOVAKIA

AUSTRALIA v. JAPAN

The winners of this zone meet America in the Inter-Zone final, and the victors oppose France (holders) in the challenge round at the Stade Roland Garros.

date of issue, or after having once been spent".

The only currency in circulation is Spending Money. No other form is permitted. All purchases and payments are made in spending note currency. At all times sufficient currency will be available to cover requirements.

"Under the system, it will be clearly evident, that spending must quickly commence, and will cause an immediate demand for goods. This, in turn, will create employment, wages will be earned, and increased spending will follow of necessity, causing a greater demand, more employment, more wages, a still greater demand, and an ever increasing trade, thus on to a prosperity never known before.

"We are looking forward to hear old wheels, which have not turned for years, starting up again. To hear the hum of the shipyards and the whir of the factories. To see shipping offices busy booking berths, merchants busy taking and delivering orders, and to experience a general awakening from the death-like industrial and commercial conditions of to-day, to those of real activity, vitality, and liveliness.

"A committee has been set up to work out all details, to adjust all anomalies, and to report upon likely abuses, so that the necessary legislation can be put through to enforce the spirit of the system.

"It may be mentioned that in order to obtain control over all wealth-creating sources, all existing Government, foreign, and other investments, will be redeemed, or purchased by the Government in Spending Notes, over a number of years.

"Not much difficulty is anticipated in the working of the system. If necessary, payments may be made on account for commodities before the expiry date of the Notes.

"The Scheme permits the Government to amply control and regulate production, to calculate and to say what must be retained for productive purposes, for seed as it were, and what proportion for consumable crop. It prevents the lunatic endeavour of the old system, of trying to use the seed proportion, and to extend the crop, and puts the responsibility for prosperity on every member of society, and not on to the privileged few, "the Money Barons" of the past.

"An individual is permitted to save and accumulate as much material wealth, as he wishes, but not money. Here the first query suggests itself?—Under this restriction what provision can be made against sickness or old age.

"The question is easily answered. From the present productive capacity, from new productive methods which are known, and from the unlimited productive possibilities of the future, when the technicians are freed from the stranglehold restrictions of present-day finance, goods will be available in super-abundance, and we are convinced, that no one need be concerned about normal necessities.

DISPLACEMENT OF LABOUR.

"It is anticipated that the improving methods of production by the substitution of mechanical energy will continue to displace human labour. This will enable most workers to retire from organised work at a comparatively early age.

"Compulsory Insurance schemes have been inaugurated which will permit a man to have adequate provision in case of sickness and to retire on an income equivalent to his previous average yearly earnings. Under these conditions there are no legitimate reasons why money should be saved. The salvation of prosperity is circulation of money.

"It is expected that immediately the Scheme begins to operate a terrific leap into prosperity will be made. "Cognizance has been taken of the fact that when a man is suddenly relieved of life's two greatest mental burdens—the provision against rainy day and old age—reactions are likely to be severe. We expect from some minds so released, new expressions of activity for the advancement and benefit of mankind. We also expect, on the other hand, cases of extreme abuse of this newfound wealth.

"A strong Social Committee has been created to attend to these matters and for opening up new channels of activity.

"I need not dilate further on this phase of our economic change but in passing, I would like to say that we feel that by giving every man a fair chance to wealth, and an opportunity of reward for honest endeavour, whether he belongs to the "Haves" or the "Have Not's" we have knocked the hope from under the feet of the Black, Brown, Green, and Red Tie and Shirt Organisations.

FOREIGN POLICY.

"In examining the question of our foreign policy, on the premise "that the era of dealing in debts is drawing to a close, and will be followed by one of dealing only in goods and services, and that foreign investments in money, leading to economic influence, as they do, on lives of foreign people is always a potential political danger," it was accepted, as a general principle, that in the long run, we could not afford to buy more goods than we sold, nor could we expect to sell more goods than we bought.

"A Foreign Trade Board has been created, members of which have been elected from and by the commercial and industrial community itself. The financial part of all foreign transactions of selling and buying, in future, will be conducted through this Department.

"It is our desire to avoid the senseless shipping and re-shipping of quantities of gold. Therefore I am instructed to propose that this Conference should examine the possibilities of creating a Central Clearing Bank, where the settlements of all foreign transactions could be made. It is possible to imagine such a bank operating, so that, if Brazil buys goods from Britain, Britain's account at the Central Bank would carry a credit with Brazil, and if Brazil is unable to buy from Britain, but has a similar Credit with U.S.A. and Britain has a similar debt with U.S.A., the accounts are adjusted by book-keeping, and so on.

"For the time being, for the purpose of foreign trade, we shall continue to use gold as a yardstick of measure for goods and services, but we consider that a more satisfactory basis is desirable and that one can be found. I am instructed to commend the examination of this question to the deliberations of the Conference.

"We are prompted to ask for the consideration of this question because of the fact that gold has little direct relationship with true Physical Wealth. Its utility value is so very low that it is virtually a worthless yellow metal.

The fact that whether quantities of this yellow metal lie hidden in vaults in New York, or in vaults in London, can be of utmost concern, and cause mass anxiety, or mass elation, we consider in this enlightened age an insult to common intelligence.

"Neither can we see why the world should concede the determination of its values of wealth to the inconsequential fact of a shortage or an abundance of supply of any inert metal. Nor is there any reason in the realm of sanity, because of this fact, why the self-same article in one part of the world, must be priced at $4 at one period and $22 at a short time after, and that the price should have no utility, but should continue to vary daily.

ABANDONMENT OF GOLD.

"We suggest the complete abandonment of gold, together with its equivalent of absurdities, and that consideration be given to a basis, which has a direct relationship to goods and services. We recommend as a basis the unit of Energy, put forward by a group in the United States, designating themselves the Technocrats.

"In every form of goods and services, Energy is a component. Energy has almost the same cost value all over the world, especially electrical energy. We recognise that a perfect yardstick of measure, for our respective commodities, for exchange purposes, is not possible; but we consider that an Energy basis would provide the most accurate of all available means. At the least, it would have some sensible relation to commodities. It would practically eliminate questions of rates of exchange, and price variations would be in sympathy with real commodity and demand values.

"In closing, it might be said that in deciding to act promptly and independently, my Government's concern was an apprehension of the psychological effect of the persistent and illogical cry for increased Price Levels at the very time when the people's purchasing power was being constantly reduced. In this cry, to the practical mind, there seems to be no intelligent purpose other than to satisfy some abstract theory.

"In direct opposition to a cry for increased price levels, we consider that real and genuine prosperity can only be reached through a louder cry for lower, and still lower, price levels. (To-morrow, Mr. Cope, in his final article, formulates his conclusions.)

A NEW CHURCHBISHOP VALTORTA SETS CORNER STONE

The foundation stone of St. Anthony's Church at West Point was blessed and laid by Bishop Valtorta in the presence of over 500 people last evening.

Built with "a monthly dollar" subscriptions fund, the new edifice may be said to hold the close interest of almost every member of the Catholic community, in addition to a large number of friends whose interest has been aroused by the unique social welfare work to be centred there and the Salesian Institute, whose industrial school (the St. Louis Industrial School) adjoins the site. It will cost $100,000.

The site has been prepared with ingenuity, with the necessity of making use of every inch of available ground. From a steep and difficult slope, below Pokfulam Road at a point opposite the West Gate of the University, two terraces have been cut, on which the new Church will be constructed.

There will be three storeys. The first floor will be used as a Gymnasium Hall, and the second will contain six class rooms for a primary school. The topmost storey will contain the Church itself, on a level with Pokfulam Road.

The Procession.

A statue of St. Anthony and Child, was borne aloft in the procession to the site of the Church before the laying of the foundation stone.

Clerics and Seminary students, boys from the Salesian Institutes, Hongkong and at Macao, and hundreds of visitors, figured in the ceremony.

Bishop Valtorta consecrated the foundation stone, holding a silver trowel, the gift of the architects, Messrs. Hazeland & Gonella.

A parchment scroll, beautifully illuminated and bearing a memorial of the event, the finely executed work of Fr. Braga, was amongst the souvenirs contained in a brass cylinder, and buried with the foundation stone. The other records included coins and current copies of the South China Morning Post and Hongkong Telegraph.

On the foundation stone the following inscription both in English and Chinese appears:

To The Glory of God
In the Honour of St. Anthony
This Foundation Stone Was Blessed and Laid by
His Lordship Bishop Henry Valtorta
Vicar Apostolic of Hongkong on the 13th June, 1933.

Religious Observances.

The Chapel of the St. Louis Industrial School was the scene of religious observances in connexion with the event. High Mass was celebrated by Fr. C. Braga, Provincial of the Salesian Institute, in the morning, followed in the afternoon by Solemn Vespers. Fr. Cavanaugh preached the occasional Sermon, and Bishop Valtorta, who administered Benediction, made the following address:

"To Missionaries like the Salesian Fathers and others, who have come to Hongkong for the sole purpose of preaching the Gospel, as well as to all those who have at heart the interest of the Catholic Church, this function of laying the foundation stone of the new church of St. Anthony must be a very gratifying one. Quite a number of Churches and chapels have been built in Hongkong in recent years: some are for the public, like St. Margaret's church and St. Teresa's church or the Aberdeen Chapel, some are for particular institutions, like the Chapels of the Little Sisters of the Poor, St. Mary's School, the French Convent, and several others. Similarly, a number of Chapels have been opened in the missionary districts of the Vicariate. They are a proof that we are not left behind in the general movement of progress of the Catholic Church in China, which shows a big and, what matters more, a steady increase every year.

"And now comes this new Church dedicated to St. Anthony. It comes to replace the old St. Anthony's Chapel that formerly stood where now King's College stands and was later on given temporary quarters on the ground floor of the Salesian Institute. It comes in good time. It is simply impossible to find even standing room for all in the present chapel. Although the material means for the building of a new and much bigger church are not quite ready yet, no further delay can be contemplated. God will provide the means and the well-known generosity of the Catholics of Hongkong and their well known love for that great glory of Portugal that answers to the name of St. Anthony, are sufficient guarantees that the new Church will be ready in due time.

Point of Pleasure.

"It gives me great pleasure to say that the new St. Anthony's Church will be a regular Parish Church in charge of those Salesian Fathers, whom it was my privilege to call to Hongkong for the purpose of establishing an Industrial School as soon as I was made a Bishop.

"It gives me great pleasure to know that this Church will be an integral part of the Salesian Institute and will be chiefly for the benefit of the poor boys of the Industrial School. This means that it is going to be a great co-efficient in the social work which the Catholic Church is doing for the uplifting and the education of the children of the poorer classes in Hongkong.

"It also gives me great pleasure to know that this Church will happen to face our University. It will thus afford facilities to fulfil their religious duties to those Catholics who frequent the University and it will be the University's parish Church. I hope it will also be a reminder to our non-Catholic brethren that it is not enough to give our attention to the study of nature and arts and sciences. Such things are not eternal and therefore must matter but little in the end. We must raise ourselves to the knowledge and to the love of God Himself.

"When I first came into contact with our University, I was struck by its beautiful Latin anthem, in which it is proclaimed: 'En Dei reverentia hinc scientia!' and I took these words to mean a programme. But I was mistaken. Officially, God has no place in the University. He is not rejected, no; but He is officially ignored, in spite of the University's anthem. Of course, this is not a special fault of the University: it is common elsewhere. Outside the Catholic Church, there is a growing tendency to accommodate ourselves to a world without God, a world which its supporters would find call scientific, a world aiming exclusively at material well-being and ignoring the supernatural and future life. It is, in a word, a new Paganism, far worse than the old Paganism, which, at least, had written on the front of the famous temple of Delphi the motto 'Know Thyself,' which can only be done in the light of the Divinity, because our better part, the soul, is immortal. It is then good to hope that to all those who have eyes to see and ears to hear also something about the spiritual side of life, this Church might some day be useful and welcome. Gymnastic exercises performed to music by the Band of the St. Louis Industrial School provided an entertaining spectacle after the ceremony. In this event, which brought to a conclusion the programme of the day, some 35 boys from the Macao Institute took part.

CINEMA SCREENINGSNOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES.

Paul Muni, who appears in the title role of Howard Hughes' United Artists production "Scarface", uses a dictaphone in his dressing room to practice dialects on. He has carried the device with him during his many years on both the stage and screen and whenever he is assigned a new character role that entails the use of practically another accent and different voice he talks into his machine and then listens to himself immediately afterwards.

In "Scarface", which is now showing at the King's Theatre, Muni affects a slight Italian accent. He insists it is hardly that, however, but merely an inflection that makes words seem tinged with a foreign accent.

New Muni is 33 years old. During his past three years on the stage and screen he appeared in approximately half a dozen roles. During the eight years preceding these three he was seen in at least 250 varying parts.

Muni has a peculiar characteristic. He doesn't care very much about being "principal" roles in pictures or on the stage than the stellar assignments. His reasoning for this is that psychologically it's better for an actor not to "fight" his audience. This, he explained, means that a star is always expected to give a top-notch performance—no blemishes—no lapses—always the "let's see what you can do" attitude on the part of the audience.

"Make Me a Star"

"Make Me a Star" is a dramatic comedy. A comedy which you laugh with in your eyes. There is a heart-break in its nonsense—the ambition of a boy holds sacred, those about him laugh at it. It's the supreme proof of story, acting and directorial genius—for its deep drama follows each lump-in-the-throat.

The locale is Hollywood.

Hollywood... there is a lure in the very word. If there weren't would fan magazines... with circulations running into the millions, print nothing but stories and pictures of Hollywood and its people? Is there a stranger within forty miles of Los Angeles who doesn't hurry to the Hollywood... stand before the gates of a studio... exert every effort (even to bribery)... make every contact... just to crash the gates of Hollywood?

If this is true—then "Make Me a Star" is a story of Hollywood. The inside of Hollywood. Beyond the sacred portals—on the "sets"...

In the dressing rooms of the stars. This is something you and your audiences have never seen before—the strange story of Hollywood. "The Greek Had a Word for Them"

Fresh from its record run on the Broadway stage, "The Greek Had a Word for Them" Samuel Goldwyn's film version of the Zoo Akins play, comes to the King's Theatre on Thursday with Ina Claire, Joan Blondell and Madge Evans portraying the roles of "Them."

Thus the screen gets a new idea in film entertainment. Smartness and sophistication are its keynote. For months New York laughed at the wine-crazed adventures of these three dizzy blondes, this triumvirate who might easily have been sisters of "The Three Musketeers."

Sharing the spotlight with them is Gabrielle Chanel, the world-famed style authority of Paris, who designed thirty outfits in which the three blondes appear. Ina Claire star of this comedy of millionaire-hunters, wears fifteen of the Chanel creations. Madge Evans and Joan Blondell combined with her to provide the most dazzling fashion parade the screen has seen. One of the two fur wraps worn by Miss Claire is valued at $10,000. These clothes are entirely in keeping with the play, for it deals with New York society and night life.

From the beginning even from the beginning of the stage run questions have arisen as to what it was the Greeks had a word for. Fans will learn now that the world is "hetaira", meaning blondes on the loose. In fact, the Greek "hetaira", and the modern so-called "gold-digger" appear to be sisters under the skin. The girls are always saying: "Meet my fiancé, not that I'm engaged or anything like that but!"

"The Broken Wing"

Following the example of orange growers who fight frost with fire, Paramount's Hollywood studio resorted to the same expedient to prevent frost damage to an outside garden setting of flowers, used in one of the scenes of the vivid pictorialisation of the well-known stage drama, "The Broken Wing", which opens tomorrow at the Queen's Theatre.

Smudge pots were installed at a ranch, forty miles from Hollywood, and lighted nightly as long as there was danger of frost. The 2070-acre ranch has a much higher elevation than Hollywood, and for that reason grows much colder.

The smudging protected the flowers and shrubs on the hacienda setting used in "The Broken Wing."

The original drama was the stage's most ambitious effort to introduce a thrilling aeroplane crash on the open stage. This thrilling scene was considered a remarkable exhibition of stagecraft and attracted thousands of patrons throughout the country.

"Penalty of Fame"

One of the most timely pictures is showing at the Central Theatre today. Universal's "Penalty of Fame" crystallizes the thoughts of a nation as no other film has done. Its power lies in its graphic portrayal of modern journalism, the menaces of the underworld, and the kidnapping activities which have been terrorizing the innocent Americans. Audiences that have seen this unusual film have been impressed with its dramatic commentary on these phenomena of our present civilization. But "Penalty of Fame" cannot be viewed solely as such, for it is a very engrossing screen story as well in, which action, suspense and characterization predominate.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

SAY! BILLY BOWLEGS SAYS WE'RE BEACHED ON TIBURON ISLAND WHERE THE PEOPLE ARE CANNIBALS... IS THAT RIGHT, UNCLE HARRY?

YES, HE'S RIGHT, FRECKLES... BUT WE'RE GOING TO TRY AND GET OFF BEFORE ANY INDIANS SEE US!

WELL, GEE! I KINDA WISH WE COULD SEE SOME OF THEM BEFORE WE GET OFF THE ROCKS!!

WHAT'S THIS YOU'VE BEEN TELLING FRECKLES ABOUT? CANNIBALS! WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT TIBURON?

ASK ME WHAT I DON'T KNOW, WHY DON'T YOU? NOT ONLY ARE THEY THAT, BUT THEY PRACTICE HUMAN SACRIFICE... WHY, THEY EVEN KETCH DEER AN' ANTELOPE ON FOOT... AN' KILL 'EM WITH THEIR BARE HANDS... AYE-AYE!!

AN' MIND YE, THEY EVEN KETCH BIRDS ON THE WING... THAT'S HOW TOUGH THESE SERIS ARE... MIGHTY SERIS, THEY CALL 'EM!!

...AN' I FEEL THE SAME WAY FRECKLES DOES... I'D LIKE TO GET A SQUINT AT SOME OF THESE CRITTERS... AYE-AYE!

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

At auction bridge there was but little bidding and therefore most of the opening leads were what might be termed "book leads." You led the top of your partner's suit, the fourth best, or the queen from the queen-jack-ten and so on.

But at contract bridge there is generally a great deal of bidding, especially when the final contract is for a game or a slam, therefore I want to advise my readers to abolish those foolish auction tactics. It is true you can still use a few of the auction leads, but don't lead a card simply because the book says, "lead so-and-so when you hold this hand."

Analyze the bidding. See if you can find a weak spot and, if so,

▲K-Q-3-2	▲10-8-4
♥Q-10	♥8-5-
♦A-K	♦4-2
♣K-J-10-5-2	♣9-7-
	♣5-2
	♣Q-7
▲A-J
♥A-K-J-7-3
♦Q-J-10
♣9-6-4

attack there. Take for example the following hand:

The Bidding

South, the dealer, opened the bidding with one heart. West passed and North, while he had a five card club suit and only a four-card spade suit, should bid the spades first in this case as it allows him to make a one over one forcing bid.

Naturally, with your partner making an original bid when you hold this strong hand, you are looking for a slam, so rather than bid two clubs in this case I would force with one spade.

South can show his five-card heart suit by a simple bid of two hearts. North can make another constructive bid of three clubs—this is a very strong bid, the showing of a second suit. South bids four no trump to indicate clearly that he has the diamond suit stopped. This would also show some strength in spades. North should jump to six no trump.

The Play

West is the opening leader. It is senseless to lead the fourth best spade or diamond as you cannot hope to establish an eight or a nine—remember you are trying to defeat a slam contract.

The bidding has clearly indicated that South was afraid of clubs—that is why he didn't go to no trump earlier. North has showed stoppers in clubs, therefore he is marked with the king of clubs. So why not open a small club hoping to put the declarer to a tough guess?

You see what happens?—the dummy goes down with the king-jack-ten. True, if the declarer goes up with the king of clubs, he can make a grand slam, but at least you have put him to a guess. If he plays the jack, your partner's queen wins, a club is returned, and you have defeated the slam contract.

Children's Hot Weather
Health Troubles.

The commencement of the hotter months is very often marked by stomach and bowel troubles in the little ones. In order to prevent the development of more serious conditions Baby's Own Tablets should be administered at the first signs of "off colour," loss of appetite, tendencies to constipation or indigestion, unusual looseness of the bowels, stomach ache, general lack of good spirits, ill-temper or sleeplessness.

For babies and for children of all ages up to seven or eight, parents in hot countries cannot keep a more valuable corrective in the home than Baby's Own Tablets. An occasional tablet through the trying, summer season is a precaution many parents take.

Being the prescription of a highly qualified specialist in children's ailments, Baby's Own Tablets are absolutely safe and reliable, containing no opiates, narcotics or other harmful drugs. For teething babies they are wonderful, easing the pains rapidly, thus enabling baby to sleep. All wise parents keep Baby's Own Tablets handy. Obtainable from reputable chemists everywhere.

COLONY QUIET

COMPREHENSIVE REPORT OF I.G.P.

"The year 1932 in regard to law and order, was quiet." That satisfactory statement appears in the introduction of the annual report of the Inspector General of Police (Hon. Mr. E. D. C. Wolfe), to be tabled at meeting of the Legislative Council tomorrow.

The report says inter alia: There was a decrease of 1,655, compared with 1931, in the total number of cases reported to the police, but the decrease was in minor offences. There was an increase of 423 in serious offences. The developments of the Sino-Japanese dispute called for continuous vigilance in the Colony throughout the year. Events in Shanghai in January and February gave occasions to the local population here to indicate their sympathies by extravagant use of fire-crackers, but no disorder occurred. Compared with 1931, there was a decrease of one case in the number of piracies on ships, and an increase of three cases in the number of junk piracies.

Political Bureau.

During the year under review, the working of the Political Bureau has been much facilitated by the increase of staff allowed. This has enabled it to watch successfully the general activities of the Communist Party in Hongkong. Information gathered from time to time indicates that this year has been a very lean year for the Communist here. This may be accounted for by the successful action taken against all branches of the Far Eastern Communist Party situated in Shanghai, Canton, Indo-China and the Straits Settlements. As a result, the Hongkong Communist Party has had to rely mainly on its own efforts to support itself, though meagre funds have periodically been obtained from Shanghai.

Crime Summary.

The total number of cases reported to the police during the year 1932 was 21,071 as against 22,728 in 1931 being a decrease of 1,655 or 7.2%. The average for the last five years is 21,896.

There were 5,707 serious cases in 1932 as against 5,284 in 1931—an increase of 423 or 7%. There was an increase of 4 cases in house-breaking, 19 burglaries, 188 larcenies and 13 murders. Robberies decreased by 9 cases. The number of robberies during 1932 was 70 cases distributed as follows: 23 cases in Hongkong, 33 in Kowloon and 14 in the New Territories as against 79 cases in 1931.

There were 15,364 minor cases during 1932, as against 17,444 in 1931, a decrease of 2,080 or 11.9%.

The estimated value of property stolen during the year 1932 was $714,205.52 as against $552,273.93 during 1931, an increase of $161,931.59 or 22.6%. The average for the last five years is $747,534.97. The value of property recovered during the year 1932 was $85,830.29 or 12% of the property stolen, as against $88,451.09 or 16% of the property stolen during 1931.

Motor Licences.

The total number of persons examined as motor drivers was

OFFICER FOUND SHOT.

DEATH OF MR. W. J. SPRINTALL AT SWATOW

According to advices from Swatow, Mr. William J. SPRINTALL, Chief Engineer of the B. and S. steamer Ying Chow, was found dead, under tragic circumstances. It appears that on Saturday morning he was found dead in his cabin, sitting in a chair, with a bullet wound through his head, and a loaded revolver lying on the floor at his feet.

An inquest was immediately held before the British Consul at Swatow, and deceased was buried at the Kakelich Cemetery the same afternoon.

The late Mr. SPRINTALL, who was only 32 years of age, was a well-known and popular officer on the China Coast, having been out here since 1924, in which year he joined Messrs. Butterfield and Swire, and he was considered one of the smartest engineers in the service. It is understood that he leaves a wife in Hongkong, to whom he was married early this year.

1,445 as against 1,420 in the year 1931. The total number of persons passed as motor drivers was 1,239 as against 1,116 in the year 1931.

The total number of accidents reported was 1,134 as against 1,080 in the year 1931. The total number of fatal accidents was 61 as against 62 in the year 1931.

In 1932, 234 dogs were destroyed as compared with 288 in 1931.

BEAUTY NOTES

Get Rid of Those Ugly Blackheads

If you have difficulty in getting rid of blackheads, make a lotion of equal parts of rosewater, turpentine, bezoin, and glycerine, and bathe the affected parts two or three times a day.

It is advisable to remain indoors for at least an hour after applying this lotion, as it quickly opens the pores. When you have submitted to this treatment for a week, squeeze the offenders out of the skin.

If the skin is very delicate and becomes red and raw with this application, it can soon be made white and smooth by applying Fuller's earth mixed to a thick paste with milk, before retiring at night. Next morning wash in cold water, and apply a light dusting of rice powder.

Where the blackheads are less obstinate, cover them with a soft strip of flannel, soaked in hot olive oil, for as many minutes as the oil remains warm. The oil, at the beginning, should be just hot enough to bear your little finger with comfort, and the flannel should be squeezed well to prevent the oil dripping.

Now cover your forefinger with soft cloth, thick enough to prevent the nail marking the skin, and press out the offenders.

Head and Shoulders in Style

Two notes from a new spring song are this white hat and matching scarf, made of a new white spongy crepe. The little hat has an effectively draped top, neat and ornamental, higher in the back than the front. The scarf has one end that slips through the other, holding the scarf in place, with a little touch of flowers right under the chin. It is particularly effective with a black costume.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

SLEEVES ARE PEEKING!

And They're Gussing Style Around the Wrists

Elissa Landi

Hollywood.—Short sleeved coats and capes, with blouse or dress sleeves protruding to make long cuffs are a new wrinkle in Hollywood styles.

Elissa Landi, wore a string coloured jersey outfit, the pointed yoke and long sleeve cuffs being of matching silk crepe and the little jersey jacket's sleeves ending just below the elbow. She wore a big bow tie of brown taffeta ribbon and the buttons on the frock were brown.

Phyllis Barry, wore a black transparent dress with its long sleeves trimmed with rows of black taffeta, a black taffeta bow at her throat and her little shoulder cape stopping just at the elbows, to show her sleeves beneath.

Ann Harding, wore a brilliant red dress with white stitching all up the deep cuffs of the sleeves and around the bottom and a short-sleeved matching cape topping it.

SAVOURY SALADS

Novel Dressings for Your Vegetables

Now that lettuce is to be had fairly cheaply once more, we joyfully turn our attention to salads and their accompaniments. We do our best to vary the salad-vegetables by adding to the lettuce—sometimes tomatoes, sometimes cooked peas, sometimes cucumbers; but it seldom occurs to us that we might vary the dressing! Most housewives alternate between French dressing and mayonnaise, oblivious of the fact that there are several other possibilities. Below are recipes for novel dressings that will give zest to any salad.

Piquante Dressing

Rub the yolk of 2 hard-boiled eggs through a wire sieve, add a pinch each of salt and pepper, then add about a teaspoonful salad oil very gradually, a drop at a time, stirring hard and constantly, till the sauce is thick and smooth. Stir in 2 tablespoonfuls lemon juice, 1 tablespoonful tomato ketchup, a tablespoonful chopped olives, and a pinch of red pepper.

Curry Dressing

Mix thoroughly 1/2 teaspoonful curry powder, 1/4 teaspoonful salt, a pinch of pepper, and a dessert-spoonful onion juice. Add, gradually, 3 tablespoonfuls salad oil and 1 tablespoonful tarragon vinegar. Use as required.

PRACTICAL RECIPES

Vegetable Curry Soup

One and a half ounce margarine, 1 onion, 2 large apples, or 2 stalks rhubarb, 2 ounces rice, 1 tablespoonful each curry powder and vinegar, 1 carrot, 1 small turnip, the white part of 2 leeks, a sprig each of parsley and thyme, a bay leaf (herbs tied in muslin), the usual seasoning, a little lemon juice. Wash and cut up the vegetables and rhubarb. If apples are used, peel, core, and chop. Boil the rice as for curry, melt the margarine in a saucepan, and in it fry the onion, add the curry.

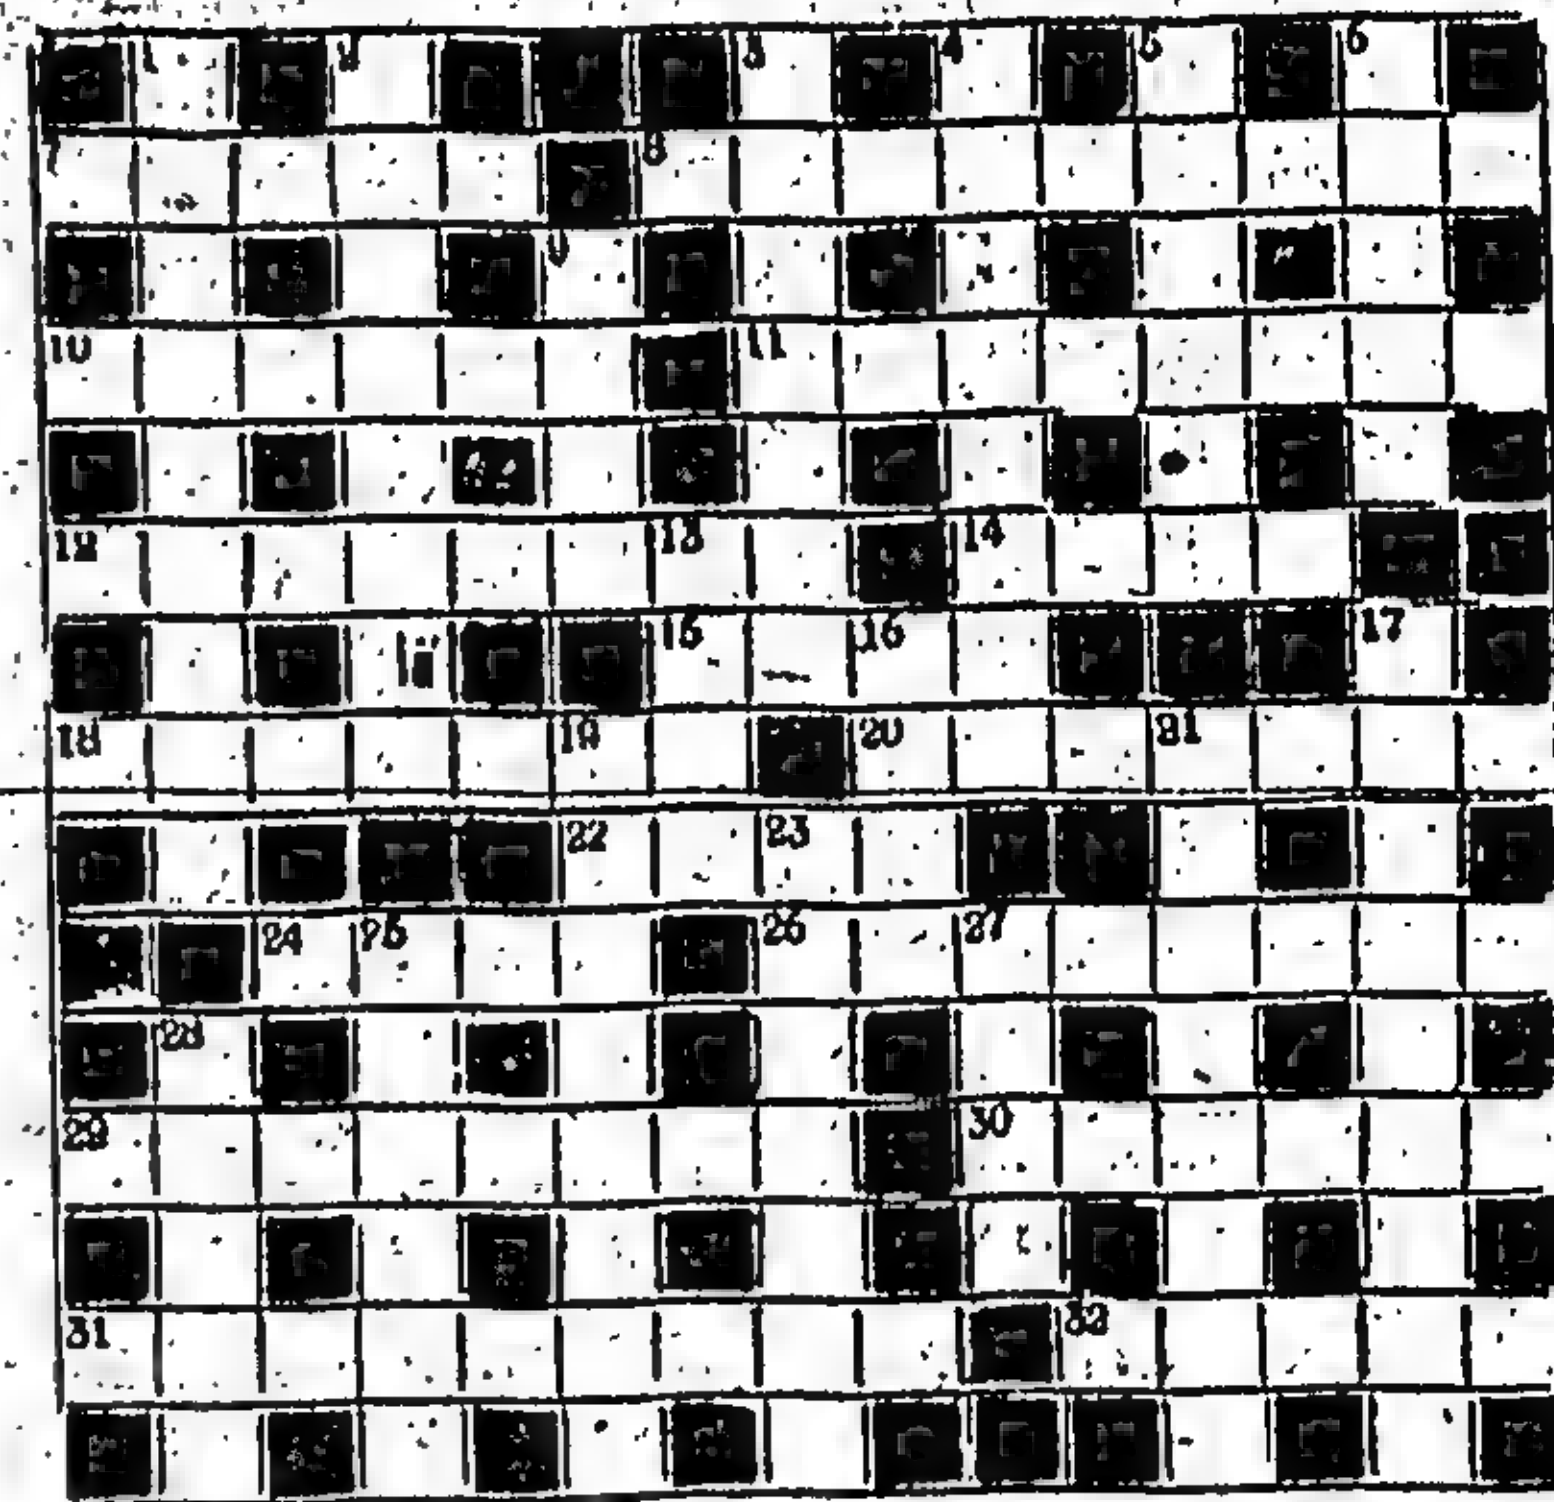

Mix and add the vegetables and rhubarb. Shake the pan, and stir the contents; add rice and vinegar, then add 2 quarts of water, seasoning, and lemon juice. Simmer for 2 hours. Remove muslin bag of herbs, and strain the soup through a sieve; return all to the pan, and heat up. Serve with toasted bread cut into strips.

Onion juice may be easily obtained by sprinkling sugar over some sliced onion and leaving for an hour or two.

Orange Salad Dressing

Beat together 4 tablespoonfuls salad oil and 2 tablespoonfuls vinegar, season with salt and pepper, and add a green pepper, seeded and chopped, a small orange peeled and cut in very small pieces, and 1/2 dozen olives, chopped. Serve with a green salad.

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

MONICA O'DARE, beautiful, poor and 20, is in love with DAN CAULFIELD, who belongs to one of Ireland's rich families. Monica works to help support her mother, her younger sister, KAY, and brother, MAUR. When Billie, an older brother, is arrested at the garage where he works, Monica goes to his aid. She gets in touch with CHARLES EUSTACE, handsome newcomer to town, who she is sure will help her.

CHAPTER VI

Bill said, "I'm not blabbing, see?" He said, "She's just a girl I know. She's all right. Sure, she's got a husband. What does that matter? She's just a friend of mine."

Bill, blustering beneath his fright, Bill, pale and big-eyed. Monica touched his hand. "I know. But it will help—lots—if you can prove you weren't with that crowd last night."

Bill set his jaw stubbornly. "I'm not dragging any girl into this. Don't you worry. It'll all come out right. They're crazy, all of them. They know I had nothing to do with it."

Monnie stifled her exasperation. She must make him see what it meant to all of them!

"All right then," she said steadily. "You don't care what happens to Mother?"

She had made a dent in his armor—she could see that.

"Don't talk foolish," Bill commanded her sternly. "You know I do."

"Mother's sick," Monnie told him. "She's hardly able to sit up, she's so worried. She won't eat. Dr. Waterman has given her some sleeping medicine."

Bill stared straight ahead. Monnie sat there, despairing, as Charles Eustace, detached and friendly, smoked his pipe and paced up and down.

Suddenly there was a commotion in the outer room. A small whirlwind burst through. A slip of a girl with flying yellow hair above extraordinarily plucked eyebrows.

"Where is he?" she demanded. "Oh, Bill. What a sap you are! Bill looked sheepish. The girl she couldn't have been 20—whiskered about and stared at Monnie and Charles Eustace.

"Isn't he a nut?" she gurgled. "Acting like a movie hero—just because he doesn't want to say he took me home from the Inn last night. Course I was there with Bill. Those big boxes breezed up to our table and tried to get fresh and he told them to light out. That was all. Imagine Jimmy Garvan trying to say Bill had a 'conference' with them! She mimicked the policeman with diabolical effect. She told Bill, "I gave Jimmy Garvan something to think about! Anyhow they've just caught the gang over at Newton Centrs and everybody knows you're out of it."

"You—you're simply fine to do this for us!" Monnie cried, her eyes shining.

"Fine!" The girl patted the plaits of her pink sweater suit carelessly. "Why, I'd do anything for Bill. He knows that." She looked coy.

Bill said, "You should have kept out of this. There'll be all kinds of talk."

"What do I care?" asked the yellow-haired girl, airily. "Me and Stan are splitting up anyhow. What's the diff? Stan knows I have dates—he does, himself, Stan," she told Bill confidentially. "He's going to Cleveland next week. He's got a job."

"He is?" This was Bill, a new, ardent Bill, unaware that such people as his sister and her escort existed. "No fooling?"

Two uniformed men interrupted the scene. One said, gruffly, "You're all washed up, young fellow. You can go home now."

It was as simple as that. A moment before Bill had been in the hands of the law. Now he was released. The oddly assorted quartet left the building.

Charles Eustace said, "I can drop all you people wherever you say."

Bill, remembering his manners rather belatedly, announced: "This is Angie Gillen. My sister, Mr. Eustace."

The girl, Angie, flicked her lashes at Charles Eustace and smiled at Monnie. "No need of dropping me any place," she said cheerily. "I ran over in the old bus," indicating a shabby touring car at the curb. Bill helped her in and there was a moment's low-voiced confusion.

"You run along and I'll see you to-morrow," Angie concluded. She whizzed the engine into a fury of commotion and barged off with a rattle of fenders. Bill, rather deflated now, climbed into the back seat of Eustace's car.

Monnie's first emotion was of joy, pure and simple. To have Bill free—vindicated—was enough. But she hated having to tell her mother of the state of Bill's affections. A married woman! Mrs. O'Dare, who had old fashioned notions of propriety, wouldn't like that. In a town the size of Belvedere the affair amounted to a virtual scandal. Well, there was no use worrying about that now!

She fancied the few people they passed on the street glanced at them curiously. Well, the true story would be about soon enough. Still there would always be people to remember that Bill O'Dare had been arrested once upon a time. She couldn't help that. It was no good worrying about it.

Bill said suddenly, "Drop me at the garage a minute, will you?" Monnie understood. He wanted to see Mr. Harnett, to know if his job was safe.

Presently she was alighting from the car at her own door.

"Don't forget about that dinner engagement," Charles Eustace reminded her with his faintly ironical smile.

She caught her breath. She had utterly and completely forgotten it.

"I'll be here for you as I said," she rushed up the walk. "Mother, it's all right. They got the thieves—and Bill is free."

Kay came out of the kitchen, a tea towel in her hand. Kay looked pale and sullen. "She's upstairs."

Monnie ran up, taking two steps at a time.

"It's all been fixed. Bill stopped at the garage. He'll be home in a minute."

Mrs. O'Dare was sitting up in bed, looking fragile and weary among the pillows. It was so strange to see her vigorous, active parent in bed during the day that Monnie had to choke back an instinctive feeling of alarm.

No, she would not tell her about Angie Gillen just now. She needed. That could come later.

"Yes, I had some tea," her mother said in response to a question. "Kay made it. Suppose you run down and have a bite yourself. You missed your lunch."

Monnie realized now she was hungry. Almost faint with it. It had been a tiring and unbearably exciting day. She flung her hat on the bed, pushed back the damp ringlets of hair around her white forehead, looked at herself in the glass with grave dissatisfaction. She experienced the inevitable reaction of the person who has been struggling for hours toward a goal and suddenly, unexpectedly reaches it. What, she thought dully, did it all matter anyway? Life was just a battle for her. It was going to be harder and harder as time went on. Bill was on the brink of an affair. Kay was discontented. Her own affair with Dan was going badly.

"It's all so—so hopeless," she whispered to her image in the glass.

Then she squared her shoulders. She had to be courageous for the others. She couldn't show the white feather. She went downstairs.

"Kay! How about a cup of tea?" The younger girl, lovely even in her sullenness, in spite of the lines of dissatisfaction etching themselves about her charmingly mouth, rose from the sitting room couch.

"I made some a few minutes ago. Want it fresh?"

Monnie said in a voice which she made cheerful with a decided effort, "I certainly do. Be a good girl and fix it for me. I'm half dead."

"The way you go dashing around!" said Kay in a coldly contemptuous tone. "You make me sick, you do. If I were you I'd let Bill O'Dare fight his own battles. Getting us into this mess—"

Monnie stared at her indignantly. "What on earth are you talking about? I never heard such nonsense. As if families oughtn't to stand together! And besides, it wasn't Bill's fault."

Kay was really too silly. They had petted her, babled her, and now she was horribly spoiled. Was it too late to do anything about it? Was she so deeply steeped in her own selfishness that she couldn't see anyone's side but her own?

"I'm disappointed in you," Monnie went on coldly. "No, don't bother to make the tea. I can get my own, thank you."

Kay followed her into the kitchen. A slightly placating note had crept into her voice now. If she offended Monnie too gravely it meant, perhaps, a cutting off of privileges—less pocket money.

"I didn't mean that we oughtn't stand together," she said. "Only—well, I get sick of it all. Being poor and not having any decent clothes or knowing the right people—"

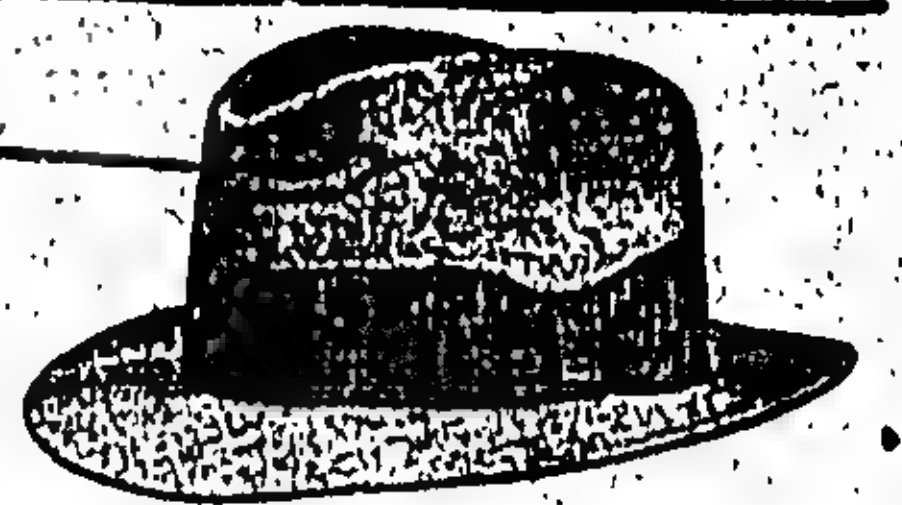

"I suppose I don't!" Monnie blazed, muting her voice so that its angry tone should not reach the woman above stairs. "I suppose you think I like all this. I suppose you think I never have a thought that doesn't include buying you a new dress and rushing down to the store on time."

In her white face her great amber eyes glowed feverishly. An angry sob choked her. Kay frankly stared. It wasn't like Monnie to flare out at her this way. Monnie went on. Bill was supposed to comfort Kay whenever anything went wrong. Kay's pretty lips parted to show her exquisite teeth. She gasped.

"I tell you," Monnie went on in a half whisper, "I'm sick and tired of it all! If it weren't for Mother, I'd clear out of here to-morrow—"

Gales that swept the mid-section of the United States, reaching tornado force in many areas and causing a death toll of more than 100, struck Chicago's environs after a heavy hail storm. The picture shows a wrecked high school near Elgin, Ill.

Tornadoes sweeping over large areas in the South took a toll of more than 100 lives. In Mississippi the twisters added to flood distress. Homes already inundated at Yazoo City are shown here after a tornado had wrecked them.

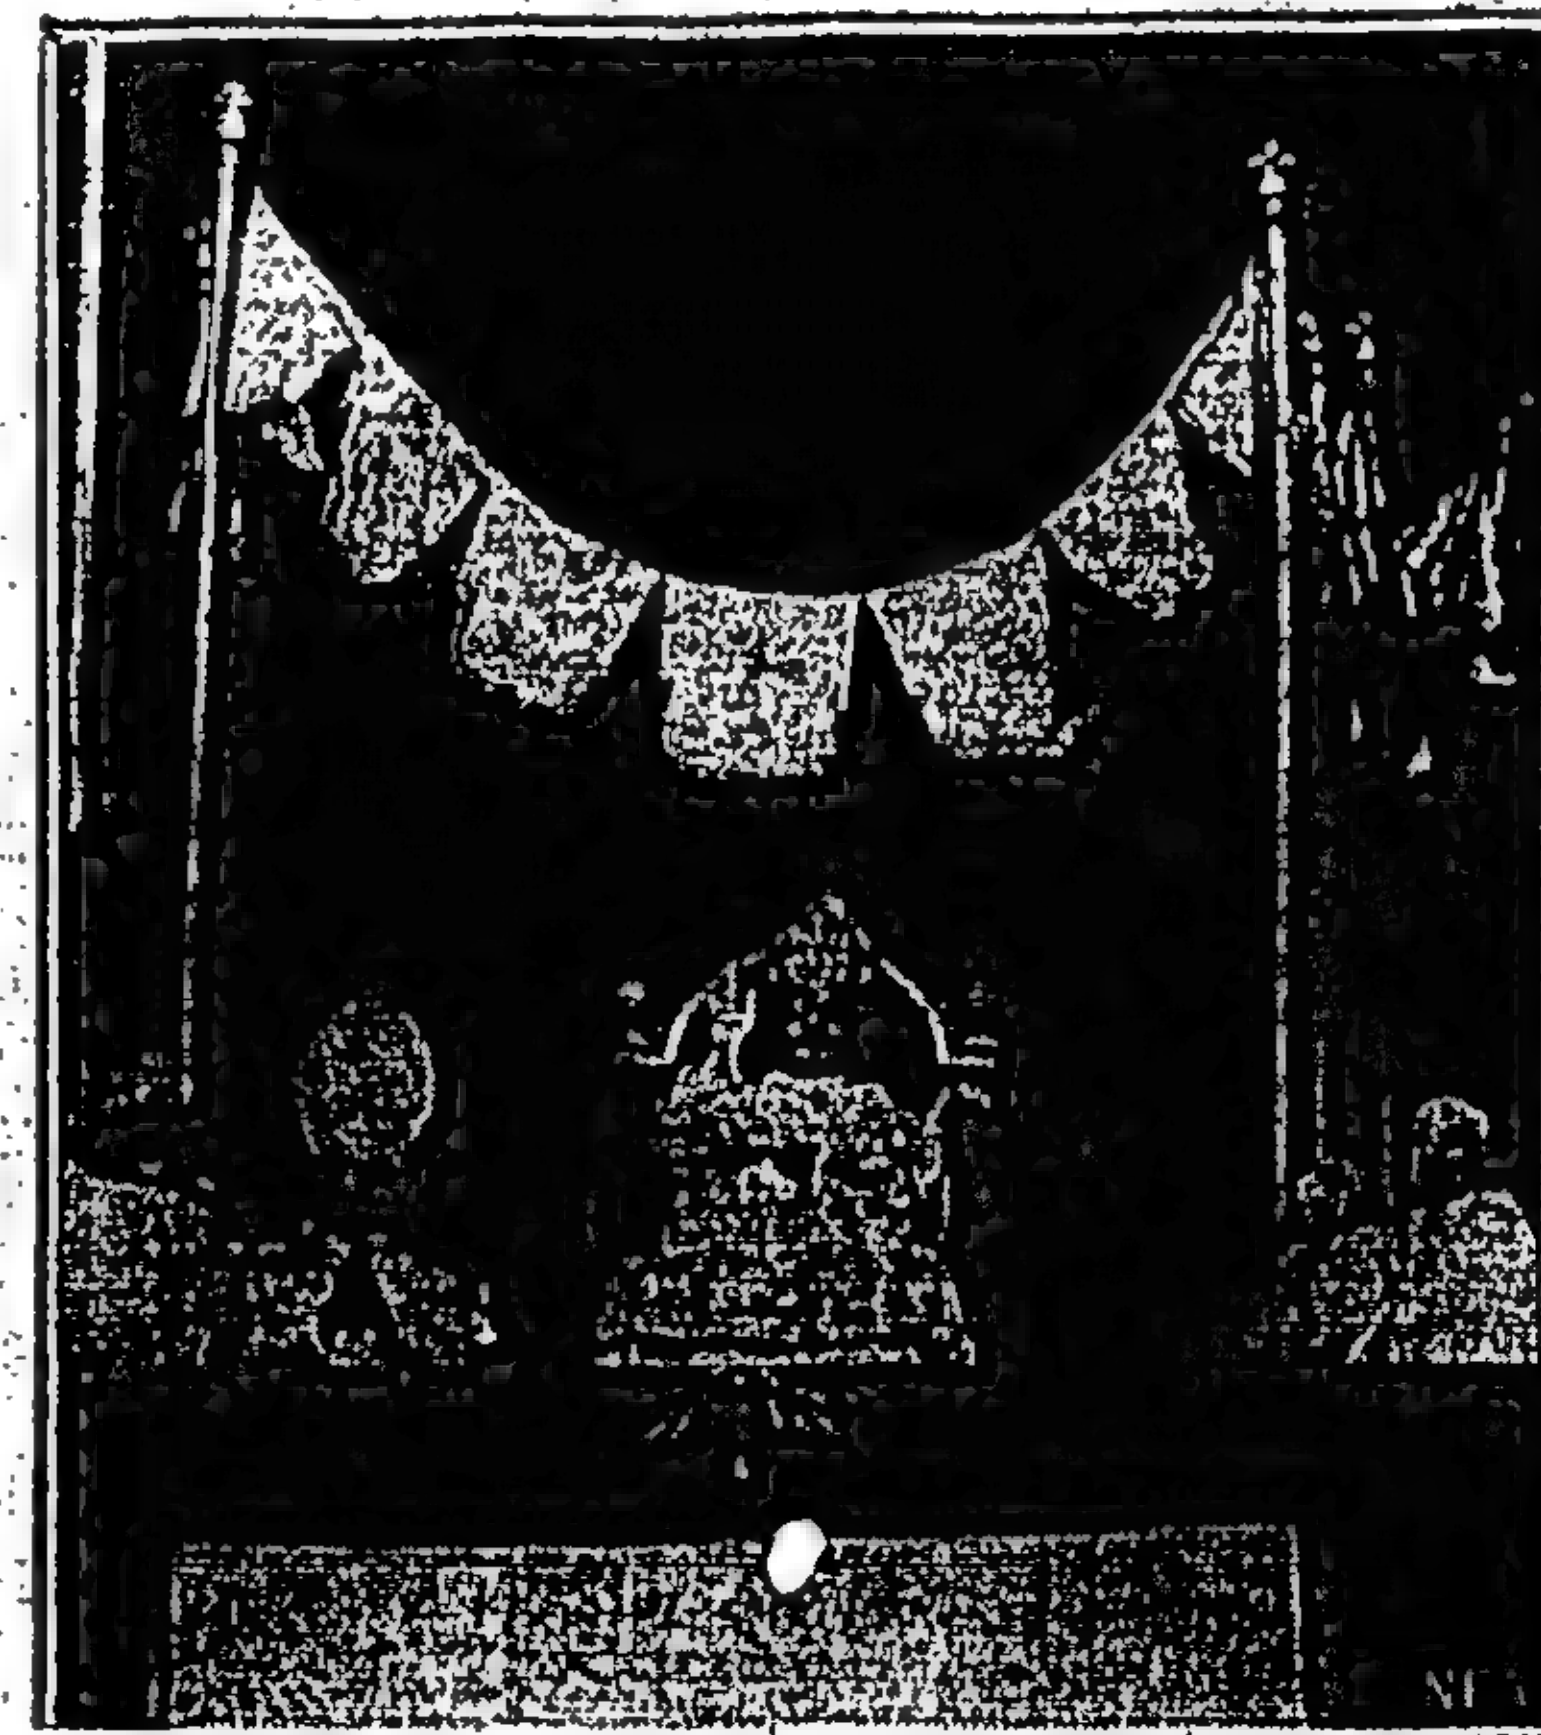

A free-for-all fight between players and fans, fired in the final game of the initial series between the New York Yankees and Washington Senators in Griffith Stadium, Washington, after Ben Chapman, Yankee left fielder, and Buddy Myers, Senator second baseman, came to blows on the field. Here you see police reserves quelling the melee in which hundreds of spectators joined. Jimmy Burke, Yankee coach is seen being held back by a fan. Chapman, Myers, and Earl Whitehill, Washington player, were suspended indefinitely.

Federal Judge James A. Lowell (above), of Boston, Mass., became the target for attack in Congress when he freed a Negro, George Crawford, wanted in Virginia on murder charges, holding that Negroes do not serve on juries in Virginia and that any conviction obtained against the suspect would be reversed by the U. S. Supreme Court.

POST OFFICE ROBOT

REVOLUTIONISING A DEPARTMENT

WONDER MACHINE

London.

Everybody knows about last year's great conversion scheme by which the five per cent. War Loan became a 3 1/2 per cent stock.

But what the public has not known is that because of that scheme the Post Office carried out a conversion scheme of its own.

It revolutionised a department and saved money for the Treasury.

What the Post Office did was to mechanise the office in Hammer-smith which deal with the stock and the issue of dividend warrants.

There are 1,600,000 war stock holders and every year over three million warrants are issued. A small army of clerks were employed before December to enter the registers and keep the accounts.

At the beginning of that month the opportunity was taken to "cut out" the writing of dividends and the entry by hand of particulars of the hold.

It is all done by machinery now.

THE MACHINE.

A wonder machine—British made and constructed to the special requirements of the department—was installed and it only needs to be tended by one clerk.

This is what happens:—

A young woman sits at a punching machine. In the machine is placed a card with hundreds of letters and figures which make no sense at all to the inexperienced.

A few taps of the machine with the left hand and out comes the card cleanly perforated in about twenty places.

It still means nothing to the inexperienced. But then it is placed in the wonder machine and then on an unending roll, and the name of the holder of the stock, the amount of the holding, the dividend due and the other particulars of the accounts are clearly and neatly tabulated. At any moment one can stop the machine and tell it to add up. Errors are impossible.

PHOSFERINE

CHAMPION

OOI LEONG TEIK writes:—

"It is with the greatest pleasure that I write to testify to the benefits I have received by taking Phosferine during my training for the 1931 Malayan Weight-Lifting Championships.

As I had to reduce some seven or eight pounds off my normal bodyweight in order to enable me to compete in the 9-stone class, I had to go into very strenuous training, and with the help of Phosferine, I not only won the championship of that class, but also the Individual Championship, and, in addition I broke a British Record.

I therefore have no hesitation in recommending Phosferine to any physical culturist or athlete, whether he be in ordinary training or preparing for a competition, as it

CHIVALROUS ACTION RE-CALLED

TRIBUTE TO A GERMAN "ACE"

Berlin.

The chivalrous action of a British major is recalled in memorial articles and anecdotes published by the press on the German war-time aviation hero, Manfred Baron von Richthofen, who was shot down behind the British lines on April 21, 1918.

After the "red devil," as Baron von Richthofen was called from the colour of his plane, had been conquered, Major Gladstone Murray flew over the German lines and dropped a wreath and a message regarding his death and burial.

Representatives of every department of German aviation, Nazi storm troopers, steel helmet men and a number of distinguished persons, including Ernst Udet, the German flying ace, were present at a memorial service for Baron von Richthofen, who on the day of his death, had shot down his 81st enemy plane.

He himself was brought down by a Canadian, Captain Roy Brown. A Richthofen Museum dedicated to his memory is shortly to be opened to the public in Schweidnitz. —Reuter.

CATERPILLARS ATTACK PINE TREES

Report by Forestry Department

It is stated in the annual report for 1932 by the Botanical and Forestry Department, that Pine Tree Caterpillars (Dendrolimus punctatus) appeared in large numbers, in various parts of the Colony, throughout the whole year; in some areas the pests died out before maturing, in other areas where the Pines were being stripped, they were collected and buried; the record cold day in March and the cold season generally did not kill off or in any way check the movements of the caterpillars this year. The total weight of those collected and destroyed amounted to 7.2/3 tons.

LIEUT. COMMANDER LANG LEAVING FOR HOME

Lieut. Commander C. J. M. Lang, S.O. (1) H.K. and for Intelligence duties with the Commanders, Hongkong, leaves for Home on Saturday on the Knier-I-Hind to retire from service. Lieut. Commander Lang passed through the course at the R.N. Staff College and prior to his appointment to the China flag ship, H.M.S. Kent in February 1932, served in the Navy Office, Wellington, as Staff Officer (Operations and Intelligence) for the New Zealand Division of the Navy. He also served in the Second Sea Lord's Office.

Lieut. Commander A. L. Besand, late of H.M.S. Victory has been appointed as successor to Commander Lang and arrives in the Colony to-day by the Rakaipindi.

"BIBLE STUDY" REVOLUTIONISTS

WHAT THE POLICE DISCOVERED

Cologne. Suspicious Meisberg police raided a "Bible study" meeting and discovered that Bibles were conspicuous by their absence.

Instead of Bibles the raiders found, after a careful search of the people attending and in the meeting room, a quantity of literature said to be of a revolutionary character.

It was revealed that the "Bible meeting" was, in reality, a gathering of Lippe communists. Many of them have been arrested. —Reuter.

NEW TERRITORIES DEVELOPMENT

MORE DEMANDS FOR BUILDING SITES

CULTIVATION OF THE LAND

There is still a big demand for building sites in the New Territories according to the annual report of the Department of District Office North. The report states:—

The demand for building sites for shops and houses continues unabated. A number of bungalow sites were sold near the Castle Peak and Cafatoria beaches during the year. Some bungalows were completed and others were in process of erection. Building at Un Long shows great progress, particularly on the south side of the main road where a row of shops has been practically completed, and before long work will be started on the second row. A large area of foreshore has been reclaimed near British Shataukok and the building of shops on the area is nearly completed. A further area of foreshore was also sold for the same purpose. Some building sites have been sold at Taiipo, for the erection of dwelling houses rather than shops.

CANNING DOUBTS.

There were 327 licences to cultivate pineapple plants current at the end of year as against 230 at the end of 1931; the area under cultivation increasing from 76 acres in 1931 to 122 acres in 1932. This growth is said to be due to the arrival of the ex-Shing Mun villagers who are now persuading their neighbours to take up this form of land-cultivation. The price dropped from $4 to $2 per picul after the passing of regulations during the cholera epidemic forbidding the sale of sliced fruit, pineapple being largely sold cut-up. Efforts so far have failed to persuade persons to start a canning industry in this District. Those who might be expected to undertake it state that there is insufficient fruit grown during the year to supply a factory. They are also not hopeful of being able to compete successfully with the factories in Hongkong, Kowloon and Canton.

DEPOSIT BEFORE MARRIAGE

BUT HE GOT AWAY WITH BOTH

Perugia, Italy.

A dilatory lover who kept on putting off his wedding-day exasperated the girl's father to such an extent that the latter insisted on a deposit—to be returned to the young man immediately after the marriage had taken place.

The young man paid over the agreed amount and everything seemed in order.

On the day of the ceremony, the bride was in her wedding finery, the witnesses had assembled and there was only one black spot on the happy picture at the bride's house—the face of the intended bridegroom.

He looked extremely dejected. "Buck up!" the bride's father exhorted. "What is the matter? Here—take that money now! I suppose that was what was depressing you."

"What is the matter, dear?" the bride-to-be inquired.

"I am very cross—with myself," the young man told her. "I had no time to shave this morning. And I'm afraid that it will bring our wedding bad luck!"

"Well—go and get a shave now!" the girl replied with a merry laugh. "There's still half an hour before we are due to leave for the church."

The face of the young man cleared.

"Right!" he said. He ran out of the house. He has not been heard of since. —Reuter.

The girl who sets out to be a "career woman" often alters her plans.

IS CAPITALISM DOOMED?

The verdict of Mr. Frederick Cope's instructive articles upon the intolerable economic situation which faces the world today is that Capitalism, as we know it, is doomed. And there are few people who would suggest, after the experiences of the past three years, that a Capitalism which means industrial anarchy deserves to survive. Its place must ultimately be taken by centralised, Government-controlled economic planning, comprehensively organised to cover every sphere of activity and designed in the interests of nations, instead of financiers. Close observers of current economic theories cannot have failed to notice the growing tendency of the experts to lean, however gingerly, towards Communism as the solution of the world's problems, although State Capitalism and State Socialism both have strong advocates.

Not one, however, attempts to hide the fact that no attempt to bolster up the present economic system is likely to have any lasting effect. The World Economic Conference which was opened with much ceremonial on Monday afternoon is, for this reason, it is held, a needless intervention in normal developments. The delegates are not ready for the drastic changes which are essential. They seek to restore prosperity along the old lines when, it must be obvious, the utmost that can be achieved is to save Capitalism for a greater fall at some future date. The problems which have been so forcibly brought to the attention of the whole world in the last three years are the logical result of the existing monetary and economic systems and will merely intensify as labour-saving devices simplify the means of production of goods. The issue has to be faced, sooner or later. And unless we are to despair of the efficacy of reason in human affairs, it might just as well be sooner or later. It is for this reason that Mr. Cope's fifth article, published to-day, is particularly interesting. It ventures a solution which places the entire control of industrial production and activity in Government hands, while preserving individualism in the cogs of the industrial machine. We do not need to enlarge upon the scheme, which while not worked out to the final details, is sufficiently self-explanatory in principle. And subject to modifications, having once accepted the proposition that the existence of the ultra-finance is a check to organised prosperity, that selfish interests can have no place in the world of the future. A tentative move in the direction suggested by Mr. Cope is, in fact, already being made in the United States under the plan worked out by President Roosevelt's advisers and leaders of business to join government and industry in an effective "partnership." The immediate aim is a united front in the battle against the depression. But the long-range purpose is to prepare the way to bring order out of economic chaos and to establish in America a larger measure of social justice. The proposals for regulating prices, wages, hours of labour and conditions of competition go far beyond anything so far attempted anywhere but in Russia. It is designed to help the more enlightened and progressive elements in every industry. It will uphold their hands in maintaining fair competition and ending price and wage cutting. By relaxing the anti-trust laws it will make trade associations more effective instruments of self-government. Under the plan the Government, through an Industrial Control Board, will ask all trade associations to adopt codes establishing their own standard for prices, wages, hours and conditions of competition. The Board would have authority to assist in drawing up a satisfactory code and would protect the rights of workers and public. Then the Board would act as policeman to see that the code was observed. Enforcing discipline in such a field is a delicate and difficult business. But the alternative is continued anarchy. Lack of discipline means wasteful competition, opportunity for the unscrupulous and oppression for the weak. It means over-production and underconsumption. It means recurring depressions. Undoubtedly the experiment will show the need for improved methods. It can be only part of the solution in any case. A vast section of industry is not organised in trade associations. But business leaders, economists and some of the wisest members of the Roosevelt Administration have carefully mapped out the present plans. There is reason to hope that they will bring more order into the working of capitalism. Possibly they will lead the way to such a regeneration as will enable what is good in the system to survive, revolving round the question: how far can you go in encouraging the profit motive, the initiative of the individual, and at the same time preserve for the community the greatest benefits of the efforts of all individuals.

A New Departure for Old Latin

The pliability of Latin to modern usage was recently revealed in an article in the magazine of a well-known English grammar school. Under a heading entitled "A New Departure," the article made use of some of the crudest examples of modern slang and wrapped them up in the rich phraseology of the ancient language—upsetting the opinion of certain boys in senior classes, who have frequently questioned the modern value of their exercises. The article dealt with "Duo Rigidi vel Vindicato Veri," which, being freely translated, is, "The Two Stiffs, or, the Triumph of Justice," and the modern Latinist used his art with skill. "Duo rigidi" (two stiffs), it said, lay on their backs "lata in via" in Broadway. "Murmurant illa" (the wires hummed) and soon a police squad arrived. Said one officer, "Hi posteriores in loco positi sunt" (these have been put on the spot), to which the other policeman replies, "Id dixisti, frater. Hoc municipium allquanto callidum fit." (You're sure said it brother. This burg is getting some hot). A description of the two men discovers that they are Ludovicus Sinister or Lefty Louis, and Marcus Gracilis, otherwise Slim Marks. The former, when he works, is a "canum calidum morator ab oriente parte"—a hot dog merchant on the East Side. The other "facile loquendum in ducentesima quinquagesima sexta currit"—runs a speakeasy. Finally, the crowd disperses, "pars ad mensa prandii praecipit" some to quick-lunch counters; some to the movies, for such is the life of that people—"quidam ad spectacula contestina, alia ad moventia, sic enim populus in vivo solet." After this who shall say that the ancient Latin tongue cannot deal with up-to-date matters?

WORLD CRISIS

V. PEERING INTO THE FUTURE: A PLAN AT THE TENTH ECONOMIC PARLEY

BY FREDERICK COPE, A.M.I.E.E.

(This, the fifth article of the series by a local contributor, peers into the future and suggests a development of a Plan for overcoming the faults of the present economic system, by a modified form of State Capitalism.)

Were we capable of projecting ourselves into the future, we might hear, at the Tenth World Economic Conference, the delegate of Britain, America, Germany, France or of some other industrial country, address the gathering thus:

"I have been instructed by my government to lay before you an account of certain internal economic changes which are taking place in my country.

"We have been forced to the decision that it is futile to continue further discussion, and experiment, on the present economic structure. My Government, after perusing the reports of the last Conference, in which they could discern no substantial progress, decided to act independently as the question to them was one of extreme urgency. Circumstances would not permit them to wait longer for the ultimate findings of this series of Conferences.

"Sufficient had already occurred to convince them that the subject had now developed into one upon which argument and contention would continue indefinitely, there being so many personal interests vitally affected.

"It was also felt, as far as we ourselves were concerned, that if the question was still left to the ordinary political machinery of our own Constitution, a considerable time must elapse before even an approach to a general agreement could be reached.

"Immediate decision on the matter for us was imperative. In consequence, a departure was made from all precedent and an unique method adopted.

"TERMS OF REFERENCE."

"It was resolved to submit the problem to the most competent man the country could provide. Whatever scheme this man proposed, the Government would undertake to adopt at once, and without modification, or question.

"The Terms of Reference laid down for him were:—

"An alteration is required to our present Economic System, which will immediately restore prosperity to our people. The alteration must have due regard of the present social order and trends."

"Every important professional, industrial, commercial, financial, educational, and social institution, was instructed to elect and send one representative to a Conference. At this Conference views were expressed but not discussed. The Conference then elected the man whom they considered to be the most competent, amongst themselves, for the purpose of preparing a nationwide Scheme.

"The Scheme is now an accomplished fact; it meets with general approval and has been adopted as our policy. I will endeavour to indicate a general outline.

"The Expert's Report opened out in a most extraordinary manner. Like a tutor standing over a pupil struggling with an equation, it pointed out that the matter was simple. There was a factor in the equation which should not be there. Remove it, and again, which the pupil does, realising the self-evidence of the error, and then smiling at his past foolishness.

"The Report contains an impassioned plea for the recognition of true facts only, and strict avoidance of anything supported by the narrow views of self interest.

BLOODSUCKING PARASITE.

"It then continues:—'Wealth has two factors and only two. Energy is responsible for the manifestation of goods and services. It needs material, but no monetary financing. Under the present system "monetary financing" is forced upon it. This function of money in itself possesses nothing; it is simply an expression of mind, which is debilitated or inflated, as fear or confidence in it is evident. It has been created and placed as a bloodsucking parasite on the economic system. It creates debts for its own purpose, then extorts payment, and gives no service. Money itself has no power to create. If a man takes a risk with his money, he certainly requires compensation for that risk, but in a well regulated system of production, no risk in terms of money is incurred."

"From the logic of the Report, we believe that trading of the future can only be done in goods and services. We have concluded that the era of creating and trading in money and debts, as the premier business is quickly drawing to a close; and that the prolific productivity of the times will in the future insistently impede all operations of this nature.

"We are also of the opinion that if the present practice is persisted in, of subjugating the interest of legitimate trade in goods and services, for the purpose of supporting trade in money and debts, there is a danger that it will cause a degree of social unrest which is likely to shake the foundations of our present civilization.

"When formulating the Terms of Reference, we recognised that we could not close our eyes to this fact, that succeeding generations will require a better distribution of wealth than at present exists; and any scheme, as a subsidiary feature, should automatically graduate to this end. It was also desired to interfere as little as possible with the economic and social conditions and standards as now accepted.

"In view of the fact that 80% of our total trade was our own internal trade, the Expert in his Report decided that the first step to economic recovery was to devise machinery whereby this trade could be set in motion and the maximum advantage obtained from it.

CONTROL OF WEALTH.

"In order to achieve this end it was felt that steps would have to be taken to control the amount of wealth created, and apportion how much of that amount had to be retained for productive purposes and how much had to be made available for distribution, for consumption and utility purposes.

"It has been necessary to take a survey of all services and productive capacity in industrial plant, land, transport, and other public services.

"The rate of production and service, over the last few years have been scheduled; and permission to continue at this rate has been given to the existing operators and producers, the government reserving all further rights of service and productive capacity above the figures so allotted.

"The right to produce further any commodity or provide any Service, in other words to operate "earning capacity" will be offered for public tender. The Government will provide, and maintain the plant. Tenders will be for a specified number of years, depending on the type of product or service. Any person or body of persons may tender.

SPENDING MONEY.

"The old currency has been withdrawn, and a new one substituted. (Continued on Next Column.)

The Very Idea!

THESE FEBRILE PLOTS

By Eddie Kelly, Three Star.

WE went to the pictures last night and saw "What Price Hollywood." Films about Hollywood are all the craze just now, just as, a few months ago, films about the wild and woolly jungle were the rage.

THE first rage were films of the wide, open spaces, where men are free, and woman are freer.

Then we had the eternal triangle series where men were captives and women were captivating.

Now that Douglas Fairbanks is coming to Hongkong with a hundred players, we may expect to see the pendulum swing, and Hollywood will go Oriental with a vengeance.

In order to help Doug. out, we are going to prepare a scenario for his first picture. It will be a real Chinese picture, and will be very inscrutable.

Watching our story will be like watching Chinese chess; funny little bits will keep appearing in the wrong places.

The villain will threaten the heroine with something very inscrutable, when the hero will rush into the room for his last minute rescue.

The hero and the villain will glare at each other inscrutably, and then the fight will be on. Something will go wrong with the heroes inscrutableness half way through the fight, and for a moment all will be lost. But, lor' love us, a hero never loses his inscrutableness for long in a fight, and after a few breath-taking inscrutable minutes, it will be resumed, and the hero will paste the stuffing—pardon, the inscrutableness—out of the villain.

And so the picture will end, with the hero and heroine living inscrutably over after.

Which just shows you what an ingenious plot can be worked up when you give it a little thought.

We know all there is to know about Chinese motion pictures. We once interviewed a Chinese actress, Sing Song by name.

Sing Song had turned down countless offers from Hollywood and Elstree.

"Ping pong yat yee lai chi kok mah hongg," she said smilingly when we asked her to give a message to her countless fans throughout the world.

On second thoughts we decided that it would be best for her to give her message in writing. It was in her best Mandarin style, starting at the top and working down like a grave-digger.

STORY OF THE CONVICT HOLIDAY

HONGKONG LOSES ITS EXCLUSIVENESS

We don't think Hongkong could keep its place on the map overlong. Look at this message provided by Reuters:

Nairobi. Strange illustrations of the influence of imprisonment upon the African have been among the evidence put before an Imperial Government Commission on the administration of justice in native cases.

An administrative officer of long experience related that when one native was released from prison after seven years hard labour he complained that after he had served the King faithfully for all that time, he had been "sacked" without adequate reason, or any complaint against the quality of his work.

In another case a native who returned to his reserve after a jail sentence told an admiring crowd how he had been looked after, fed, and comfortably housed.

He had, however, one complaint, he spoke with enthusiasm of the kindness of the prison authorities in giving him a fine suit of clothes, but complained bitterly that when he left prison his beautiful suit was taken away from him.—Reuters.

But don't laugh. Just gnaw.

termed Spending Notes. It was decided that gold basis, particularly for the purpose of internal currency, was entirely unnecessary. The existing currency values of commodities have been adopted as a measure of value. The denominations of the old currency have been retained, but a new feature has been introduced. "All currency" notes are dated, and are not valid after 6 months from the date of issue. (Continued On Page 9.)

"I finally won back what I was out, but to-day I can hardly stay awake."

WORLD ECONOMIC CONFERENCEChancellor
To Present British ViewsIMPORTANT STATEMENT TO-MORROWCHINA LOBBYING ON SILVER

London, June 14.
The Chinese delegation to the World Economic Conference is actively lobbying, largely, it is understood, on the silver question.

Mr. T. V. Soong has had conversations on the silver question with both the British and American delegations, but hitherto it is not believed that any tangible proposals have emerged.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, will make an important statement putting forward the British proposals at to-morrow's sitting of the World Economic Conference.

CURRENCY STABILISATION.

During yesterday afternoon, interesting addresses were delivered by Mr. Koc (Poland), Senor Ferrera (Cuba) and M. Malinoff (Bulgaria).

Mr. Koc urged the stabilisation of the currencies of the great Powers as the first consideration, followed by the re-establishment of the gold standard. He considered that of all the problems, the stabilisation of currency was of fundamental importance and should be kept in the forefront.

TARIFF REDUCTIONS.

No artificial measure could restore prices to where they were before the crisis, and all efforts should be directed towards the reconstruction and stability of international relationships. The Cuban delegate said: "If the Conference does not succeed in reducing the very high rate of tariffs which exist in the world to-day, it will have failed in its principal task."

He proposed a gradual modification of tariffs to be carried out over a period of five years.

GERMAN VIEWS.

Baron von Neurath (Germany) emphasised the desire of his country to collaborate in the spirit of the King's opening address. He remarked that the interests of creditor and debtor countries seemed to differ and that the gold standard countries seemed to have other interests than the countries which had abandoned the gold standard or which required exchange regulations for the protection of their currencies. But the Conference in its overwhelming desire to acknowledge common interests have proved most strikingly that all those differences were only differences in appearance. Industry could not prosper if agriculture did not flourish. Creditor could not exist if the debtor perished and vice versa.

FREEDOM OF GOLD.

Gold currency became meaningless if the free circulation of gold was not guaranteed. They must find the courage to carry through solutions while remembering that the success of the conference was largely dependant upon the fulfilment of great political tasks.—British Wireless and Reuter.

UNLICENSED AND UNMUZZLEDDOG OWNERS FINED
BY MAGISTRATE

Mr. D. L. Strollett appeared before Mr. Wynne-Jones in Court this morning, and pleaded guilty on behalf of Mrs. Wong Chi-shum, 7, Shouson Hill, on a summons for keeping a black mongrel without a licence on May 30. Mr. Strollett said a licence was taken out on the same afternoon.

Mr. Wynne-Jones (smilingly)—That naturally follows. Any sensible person would. Fined three dollars.

On a summons for allowing her dog abroad without a muzzle, Mrs. F. M. Harrop, of Peak Mansions, was fined $5, whilst the same penalty was imposed on Mr. D. Leonard and Mr. Wong Siu-san, for similar offences.

AS THE HECTIC ELEVENTH-HOUR BICKERING OVER THE WAR DEBTS QUESTION IS REACHING ITS CLIMAX, THE SENATE IS REFUSING TO ADJOURN AND TO REMOVE ITS MOST UNWELCOME PRESENCE FROM THE HARASSED PRESIDENT.

The Senate and President Roosevelt are still facing a complete deadlock over the tussle to reduce the recent cuts from the ex-Soldiers' allowances.

The President's plans provide for economies of U.S.$460,000,000. The modifications would reduce the saving by anything from $60,000,000 to $150,000,000.

The House of Representatives has already gone into recess waiting for the Senate to pass whatever legislation remains pending prior to adjournment sine die.

The war debts die-hards are overjoyed at this opportunity to continue their jealous watch on the White House and are ready to rush in and denounce any attempt "to see off Uncle Sam in Europe."

ITALY ALSO OFFERS PART PAYMENT

In some quarters the feeling exists that the President will delegate powers to negotiate war debts, parallel with the World Economic Conference, although not actually in the Conference, to Mr. Cordell Hull, the Secretary of State, and his economic advisers.

Strong opposition is evident. Senator Lewis Weiss, the Democratic Whip, urged that the United States delegation should walk out of the World Economic Conference rather than permit a discussion of war debts. He quoted similar action by the Germans at Lausanne as a precedent.—Reuter.

ALLEGED ASSAULT ON AMAHWOMAN APPEARS IN COURT

As a sequel to the settlement of a dispute by the Secretariat for Chinese Affairs whereby defendant agreed not to molest a certain man with whom she had been staying, Chan Ying, a spinster, appeared before Mr. Wynne-Jones in Court this morning, charged with assaulting an elderly amah on the second floor of 16, Queen Victoria Street. Hearing of the case was fixed for to-morrow afternoon.

Sub-Inspector Smith said the defendant returned to the house yesterday afternoon, and the man refused to let her in. She broke the door and a pane of glass and when the amah went to investigate, defendant is alleged to have struck her on the head and the left knee with a knife.

Bail of $25 was granted by the Magistrate, the woman leaving the dock in a very distressed state.

DAY BY DAY NEWS IN BRIEF.

YOU MAY BE LIBERAL IN YOUR PRAISE WHERE PRAISE IS DUE; IT COSTS NOTHING; IT ENCOURAGES MUCH.—Horace Mann.

A Chinese, Ho Man-yeo, yesterday jumped from the second floor of a house at Queen's Road West, afterwards dying in hospital from a fractured skull.

Riding a push bicycle in Wong Cheuk Street, Shamshuipo yesterday, Yeung Shi-ho knocked down a 12-year-old girl, Shun To, who was conveyed to hospital with a fractured skull.

The Hon. Secretary of the Peak Branch of the Hongkong Women's Guild and Ministering Children's League, acknowledges with grateful thanks the sum of $85, being the proceeds of a children's entertainment kindly arranged by Miss Lloyd and assisted by Mrs. Greig at 27 The Peak, on Saturday, June 10.

A curious mishap was reported yesterday when Cheong Wa, a school-boy, while sitting with his legs dangling over the side of the steam launch Fung Foo, alongside the Douglas Laprak Wharf, was caught against the pier through the vessel being edged in by a Socony launch which at that moment was drawing alongside the first. Both Cheung's legs were crushed and he was taken to hospital in a critical condition.

about war debts, but it is understood in well-informed quarters that the report that Britain has arranged a ten per cent. payment is substantially correct.

An official statement says that the British War Debt Note offered part payment of the war debt instalment due on June 15.

ITALIAN OFFER.

An Italian Note has been delivered which also offered part payment of the war debt instalment due on the 15th.

The amounts of neither offer have been disclosed, but it is learned that they differ regarding the percentages proposed.—Reuter.

Sydney, N.S.W.
While opening the new club rooms of the Housewives' Progressive Association, Lady Game said she was glad to hear that one of the club's activities was teaching girls cooking and dressmaking and the art of running a home.

"I am entirely uneducated in that respect," said the Governor's wife, "but I will make sure that my daughter Rosemary will learn those things that I have missed."

"When the Governor and I were visiting a certain district in New South Wales, we stayed at a home where the daughter of the house did all the cooking, besides making special cakes and savories for a party. She even cleaned our car."

"Yet she always looked so attractive, when entertaining her parent's guests. I will feel proud if I can bring up my daughter to do the same."—Reuter.

NO REPLY FROM WASHINGTONHOUSE OF COMMONS DISAPPOINTED

London, June 14.

A crowded House, of Commons received a further disappointment late last night when Mr. Neville Chamberlain was expected to make an announcement of the Cabinet's decision on the war debts question.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer stated that he was still unable to make a statement because he had not yet received a reply to the proposals he had made to Washington.—Reuter.

IMPERSONATED A
POLICEMANYOUTH TRIES TO DRIVE AWAY HAWKERS

For impersonating a police officer in Yaumati yesterday afternoon, a youth named Li Kau was fined $200 or two months' hard labour by Mr. Butters at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning.

It was alleged by Detective Sergeant Points that defendant was in Market Street at about 4 p.m. trying to drive away a number of hawkers. On being asked what authority he had, he said he was a policeman, at the same time pointing to a bulge near his hip pocket indicating that he had a revolver.

An Indian constable was informed on and making inquiries, discovered that defendant was not a policeman, although he claimed he was a detective from Central.

Evidence was given by two hawkers, who stated that defendant represented himself to be a policeman. The Indian constable said that the bulge in defendant's hip pocket was nothing but a bundle of old newspapers.

MENDICANTS—BEFORE
MAGISTRATEVISITOR FROM SHANGHAI WITH A MONKEY

A Shanghai mendicant who was arrested near the Hotel Cecil was charged before Mr. Wynne-Jones in Court this morning. He stated he came here with two foks. A fine of $5 or seven days was imposed.

The Constable said defendant had a monkey and Sub-Ins. Smith said it would probably be sent to Kennedy Town.

His Worship—Will you try to make some arrangements for the unfortunate monkey?

Another mendicant who molested a Chinese lady in Calne Road was also fined $5 or seven days. Detective-Sub-Ins. Carey said he saw the lady partially open her umbrella in order to keep the man away. Defendant claimed he knew her and was asking for a loan.

BICYCLECHINESE ALLEGES TRICK
BY INDIAN

"You might as well have had a metal front to your lamp to light the way. What's the use of a light like this. I cannot even see through it, can you?" asked Mr. Schofield, imposing a fine of $5 on a Chinese who was charged with riding a bicycle without a light.

The defendant, Chan Ho, alleged that the Indian constable, who arrested him, put out the light himself, and twisted his arm, tearing his jacket. He was leading the bicycle when he was arrested. The constable, in evidence, said that the defendant was riding at the time, and there was no light.

SHAUKIWAN MURDER
CHARGEMAN AND WOMAN AGAIN REMANDED

Tan Hing (20) and Yeung Shui-kul, a married woman, again appeared before Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy this morning, charged with the murder of a Chinese woman, in Shaukiwai on May 31 last.

On the application of Sub-Inspector Chester Woods a further week's formal remand was granted.

GUTIERREZ GETS A SHOCK

BOWLS CHAMPION DEFEATED

ACHIEVEMENT BY
A. R. WHIBLEY

On a green made heavy by recent rain, L. A. Gutierrez, champion bowler of the Colony, yesterday failed in the second round of the open singles championship when he was beaten by A. R. Whibley, the Kowloon Bowling Green Club player by 22 shots to 11.

This was the biggest surprise of the tournament to date, but Whibley thoroughly merited his achievement, being the more consistent bowler and adopting himself better to the rather difficult conditions.

The scoring was rather anasmatic. Gutierrez scored only on four heads but they gave him eleven shots. After notching a three on the fourth and another three on the sixth, the champion had to wait until the eleventh head before he again came into the limelight, and then he earned a four. This, however, was his last scoring head.

Whibley also indulged in some high scoring heads. He opened with a three on the first, another three on the third and a further three on fifth. After the sixth he missed scoring on one head only, the eleventh, and he went to his points with a series of twos and singles.

The full scores, head by head, are appended to show how the game went:

	Gutierrez	Whibley

2.	1	1
3.	4	3
4.	8	4
5.	4	3

C. C. SILVA v. R. DUNCAN.

On an adjoining rink on the Kowloon C.C. green C. C. Silva of the Club de Recreio beat R. Duncan of the Kowloon B. G. C., winning by 21 shots to 11.

Silva was leading up to the tenth head, having scored six shots to one at the sixth. At the tenth Duncan made the scores eight all but Silva again took the lead and on the 17th head he had scored 18 to nine to win eventually by 21-11.

B. W. BRADBURY v. L. WHANT.

On the Police R.C. green, B. W. Bradbury of the Craignower C.C. won from L. Whant of the Civil Service C.C. by 21 shots to eleven, the winner playing better bowls than his opponent throughout although Whant got in some nice shots.

W. Glendinning of the Police R.C. has given D. Rumjahn of the Craignower C.C. a walk over.

THE THIRD WIN.

Douglas, Isle of Man, June 12. Stanley Woods, the winner of last year's Junior and senior Tourist Trophy motorcycle races, won today's Junior Race riding a Norton.

Woods covered the course of 264 miles in three hours and 23 minutes at an average speed of 78.08 miles an hour. On the sixth lap he broke the Junior lap record by covering the distance at a speed of 79.22 miles an hour.

Percy Hunter who was second, also on a Norton was seven seconds behind, his time being 3 hrs. 23 mins. 7 secs. giving an average of 77.56 miles per hour.

Guthrie on a Norton was third in 3 hrs. 24 mins. 50 secs. giving a speed at 76.52 miles an hour.—Reuter Special.

ANOTHER BATTING ORGY IN COUNTY CRICKET CHAMPIONSHIP

15 THREE-FIGURE INNINGS

Further phenomenal scoring marked the county cricket programme during the last three days, bowlers having a most unfruitful time.

Five batsmen topped the 200 mark and ten others reached three figures.

Bakewell, the Northants batsman, scored his second double century in successive matches, last week hitting up 246 against Notts.

For out of the seven county matches produced outright results, among them being another innings victory for Yorkshire who have conceded points in one match only to date.

Sussex, Derby and Kent returned to winning form, Derby scoring a sensational victory by an innings after facing a score of 346.

RUNS ORGY.

Three matches produced over 1,000 runs and two others aggregated over 900 runs each. In the Glamorgan v. Northants game, 1,071 runs were scored for 17 wickets, an average of 63 runs per wicket, whilst Lancashire and Surrey totalling 1,012 runs for 19 wickets, an average of 53 runs per wicket.

Surrey had an astonishing experience. Batting first they treated the Lancashire attack with scant respect and piled up a score which looked good enough to give them either an outright win or at least first innings points.

The scoreboard showed 478 before the last wicket fell, and Lancashire had had three centuries hit against them. Gregory (142), F. T. Brown (108) and Squires (101) claimed the runs.

But Lancashire were even more averse and with everybody scoring runs, and Washbrook leading the way with 162, Surrey found their

Bakewell hit up a magnificent 267, this being his second double century in successive matches.

R.S.G. Scott played a true captain's part in the victory of Sussex against Hampshire, contributing 113 to the Sussex score of 277 which allowed them to gain a useful lead of 120 on the first innings. In the end Sussex won comfortably by eight wickets.

RESULTS AT A GLANCE

COUNTY CHAMPIONSHIP.

Sussex (277 and 106-2) beat Hampshire (157 and 178) by eight wickets.
Derby (508-7 dec.) beat Leicester (346 and 85) by an innings and 77 runs.
Lancashire (534-9) beat Surrey (478) on first innings.
Yorkshire (500-9 dec.) beat Worcester (231 and 104) by an innings and 165 runs.
Glamorgan (547-6 dec. and 55-1) beat Northants (469) on first innings.
Kent (466 and 169-7 dec.) beat Warwick (356 and 161) by 118 runs.
Essex (415 and 116-4 dec.) beat Somerset (344 and 61-0) on first innings.

seemingly unapproachable score passed. Time did not permit of Lancashire completing their innings and at the draw they had scored 634 for 9 wickets.

GOOD CAPTAINCY.

Good captaincy earned Kent a merited success against Warwick. Enjoying a lead of 110 on the first innings, the Hop county's second knock was closed at 169 for 7, and on a worn wicket which had already produced 991 runs, Freeman bowled out Warwick for 161, the spin bowler returning figures of 5 for 52.

Yorkshire thrashed Worcester to win by an innings and 165 runs. Running up the formidable score of 500 for 9 declared, to which Leyland contributed 138 and Mitchell 142, the "Tykes" proceeded to dispose of Worcester in a very short time. They first dismissed them for 231, enforced the follow on and sent them back the second time for 104.

Another astonishing orgy of run-getting, similar to the Surrey-Lancashire match was seen when Glamorgan and Northants met.

Glamorgan rattled up 547 for 8 wickets declared; M. J. Turnbull, the captain, batting brilliantly for an undefeated 200.

TOUCH AND GO

AUSTRALIA JUST BEAT S. AFRICA

SEMI-FINALISTS
IN DAVIS CUP

London, June 13.

Australia has won through to the semi-final of the European Zone of the Davis Cup, but Japan, who will be their opponents can regard their prospects with equanimity as the Australians only just managed to overcome South Africa by the odd rubber.

South Africa made a splendid recovery from a bad start. Losing the first two singles, they won the doubles and V. G. Kirby followed this up by overcoming Vivian McGrath, the "boy wonder" in four sets.

The irrepressible Jack Crawford finally clinched the issue when he beat Robbins in straight sets in the final match of the series.

Kirby, after conceding the first set to McGrath, was always the master and carried off the next three-sets with extraordinary ease.

Crawford was not extended by Robbins, who was unequal to the importance of the occasion and fell in straight sets.

The scores in the concluding rubbers were:

V. G. Kirby (South Africa) beat V. McGrath (Australia) 6-8, 6-0, 6-4, 6-2.
J. Crawford (Australia) beat Robbins (S. Africa) 6-4, 6-1, 6-0.

As a result the following countries will meet in the European Zone semi-finals.

BRITAIN v. CZECHO-SLOVAKIA
AUSTRALIA v. JAPAN

The winners of this zone meet America in the Inter-Zone final, and the victors oppose France (holders) in the challenge round at the Stade Roland Garros.

date of issue, or after having once been spent.

The only currency in circulation in Spending Money. No other form is permitted. All purchases and payments are made in spending note currency. At all times sufficient currency will be available to cover requirements.

"Under the system, it will be clearly evident, that spending must quickly commence, and will cause an immediate demand for goods. This, in turn, will create employment, wages will be earned, and increased spending will follow of necessity, causing greater demand, more employment, more wages, a still greater demand, and an ever increasing trade, thus on to a prosperity never known before.

"We are looking forward to hear old wheels, which have not turned for years, starting up again. To hear the hum of the shipyards and the whir of the factories. To see shipping offices busy booking berths, merchants busy taking and delivering orders, and to experience the awakening from the death-like industrial and commercial conditions of to-day, to those of real activity, vitality, and liveliness.

"A committee has been set up to work out all details, to adjust all anomalies, and to report upon likely abuses, so that if necessary legislation can be put through to enforce the spirit of the system.

"It may be mentioned that in order to obtain control over all wealth-creating sources, all existing Government, foreign, and other investments, will be redeemed or purchased by the Government in Spending Notes, over a number of years.

"Not much difficulty is anticipated in the working of the system. If necessary, payments may be made on account for commodities before the expiry date of the Notes.

"The Scheme permits the Government to sanely control and regulate production, to calculate and to say what must be retained for productive purposes, for use of it were and what proportion for consumable crop. It prevents the lunatic endeavour of the old system, of trying to use the need proportion, and plant the crop. It puts the responsibility for prosperity, on every member of society, and not on the privileged few, 'the Money Barons' of the past.

"An individual is permitted to save and accumulate as much material wealth, as he wishes, but not money. Here the first query suggests itself?—Under this restriction what provision can be made against sickness or old age.

"The question is easily answered. From the present productive capacity, from new productive methods which are known, and from the unlimited productive possibilities of the future, when the technicians are freed from the stranglehold of present-day finance, goods will be available in super-abundance, and we are convinced, that no one need be concerned about normal necessities.

DISPLACEMENT OF LABOUR.

"It is anticipated that the improving methods of production by the substitution of mechanical energy will continue to displace human labour. This will enable most workers to retire from organized work at a comparatively early age.

"Compulsory Insurance schemes have been inaugurated which will permit a man to have adequate provision in case of sickness and to retire on an income equivalent to his previous average yearly earnings. Under these conditions there are no legitimate reasons why money should be saved. The salvation of prosperity is circulation of money.

"It is expected that immediately the Scheme begins to operate a terrific leap into prosperity will be made.

"Cognisance has been taken of the fact that when a man is suddenly relieved of life's two greatest mental burdens—the provision against rainy day and old age—reactions are likely to be severe. We expect from some minds so released, new expressions of activity for the advancement and benefit of mankind. We also expect, on the other hand, cases of extreme abuse of this newfound wealth.

"A strong Social Committee has been created to attend to these matters and for opening up new channels of activity.

"I need not dilate further on this phase of our economic change but in passing, I would like to say that we feel that by giving every man a fair chance to wealth, and an opportunity of reward for honest endeavour, whether he belongs to the 'Haves' or 'Have Not's', we have knocked the props, from under all the Black, Brown, Green, and Red Tie and Shirt Organizations.

FOREIGN POLICY.

"In examining the question of our foreign policy, on the premise 'that the era of dealing in debts is drawing to a close, and will be followed by one of dealing only in goods and services, and that foreign investments in money, leading to economic influence, as they do, on lives of foreign people, is always a potential political danger,' it was accepted, as a general principle, that in the long run, we should not afford to buy more goods than we sold, nor could we expect to sell more goods than we bought.

"A Foreign Trade Board has been created, members of which have been elected from and by the commercial and industrial community itself. The financial part of all foreign transactions of selling and buying, in future, will be conducted through this Department.

"It is our desire to avoid the senseless shipping and re-shipping of quantities of gold. Therefore I am instructed to propose that this Conference should examine the possibilities of creating a Central Clearing Bank, where the settlements of all foreign transactions could be made. It is possible to imagine such a bank operating, so that, if Brazil buys goods from Britain, Britain's account at the Central Bank would carry a Credit with Brazil, and if Brazil is unable to buy from Britain, but has a similar Credit with U.S.A., and Britain has a similar debt with U.S.A., the accounts are adjusted by book-keeping, and no gold is sent.

"For the time being, for the purpose of foreign trade, we shall continue to use gold as a yardstick of measure for goods and services, but we consider that a more satisfactory basis is desirable and that one can be found. I am instructed to commend the examination of this question to the deliberations of the Conference.

"We are prompted to ask for the consideration of this question because of the fact that gold has little direct relationship with true Physical Wealth. Its utility value is so very low that it is virtually a worthless yell metal.

"The fact that whether quantities of this yellow metal lie hidden in vaults in New-York, or hidden in vaults in London, can be of utmost concern, and cause Mass anxiety, or Mass elation, we consider in this enlightened age an insult to common intelligence.

"Neither can we see why the world should concede the determination of its values of wealth to the inconsequential fact of a shortage or an abundance of supply of any inert metal. Nor is there any reason in the realm of sanity, because of this fact, why the self-same article in one part of the world, must be priced at $4 at one period and $22 a short time after, and that the price should have no stability, but should continue to vary daily.

ABANDONMENT OF GOLD.

"We suggest the complete abandonment of gold, together with its inequities and absurdities, and that consideration be given to a basis, which has a direct relationship to goods and services. We recommend as basis the unit of Energy, put forward by a group in the United States, designating themselves the Technocrats.

"In every form of goods and services, Energy is a component. Energy has almost the same cost-value all over the world, especially electrical energy. We recognize that a perfect yardstick of measure, for our respective commodities, for exchange purposes, is not possible; but we consider that an Energy basis would provide the most accurate of all available means. At the least, it would have some sensible relation to commodities. It would practically eliminate questions of rates of exchange, and price variations would be in sympathy with real commodity and demand values.

"In closing, it might be said that in deciding to act promptly and independently, my Government's concern was an apprehension of the psychological effect of the persistent and illogical cry for increased Prices at the very time when the people's purchasing power was being constantly reduced. In this cry, to the practical mind, there seems to be no intelligent purpose other than to satisfy some abstruse theory.

"In direct opposition to a cry for increased price levels, we consider that real and genuine prosperity can only be reached through a louder cry for lower, and still lower, price levels. For tomorrow, Mr. Cope, in his final article, formulates his conclusions."

OF

HAVE BEEN REDUCED

AS FROM 15th JUNE, 1933.

WAKEFIELD CASTROL MOTOR OIL gives you the correct quantity and quality. It is sold by the Imperial Gallon of approx. 9 lbs. which is the legal measure in the Colony and the innumerable achievements standing to the credit of this aristocrat lubricant are sufficient evidence of its incomparable quality. There are no inferior or alternative grades of Castrol Motor oils. Britain's records on land, sea and in the air were all made on Castrol and the oil we sell here is exactly the same as used on these occasions.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

YESTERDAY'S MARKET STEADY

According to Messrs. Swan, Culbertson and Fritz, the New York market was steady yesterday. Dual movement of 8,000,000 shares. The Wall Street Journal reports: After gaining from one to three points due to the early weakness of the dollar and bullish business news, the market reacted sharply near the close due to the firming of the dollar and heavy profit-taking. Unfavourable factors such as Congress remaining in session and the war debt situation obliterated earlier gains and in some instances caused losses.

UNREGISTERED
MUI TSAISWOMAN OFFENDER
FINED $50

ANOTHER DISCHARGED

Sub-Inspector A. H. Fraser, of the S.C.A., summoned before Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy this morning, two women for having kept unregistered mui tsais.

The first defendant, Yu Sau-ching, a spinster, of No. 3, Front Row, was summoned in respect of two girls, Tsai Ting (11) and Tang Yau (17), while the second defendant, Cheung Po, same address, was summoned in respect of Tsai Tain (10).

Sub-Inspector Fraser said that on May 26 a lady inspector of the S.C.A., while visiting some registered mui tsais, received information that these girls were unregistered. The first defendant was the fifth concubine, and the second defendant a daughter of the first wife. The defendants and the girls were all natives of the same village. The first two girls were sisters, while the third girl came from the same village. Tsai Tain was presented to the second defendant by her father when she was seven years of age for $100, the money being required for funeral. She was brought to Hongkong and handed over to the first defendant, and then handed to a woman in Queen's Road Central. Her wages were paid by the second defendant. In August last year she returned to the second defendant, and in December was handed to defendant's grandson's wife to do household work. The girl attended school for a period of three months, and was betrothed.

MUI TSAI AT 5 YEARS.

Tsai Ting was handed to second defendant by her father at the age of five on behalf of the first defendant for $100. The girl had done household work, and was assisted by Tang Yau, the third girl, who did all the heavy part of the work. She received no wages, but was given lucky money, which she had to give to the first defendant. She wished to go back to her father.

Tang Yau was handed over to the second defendant by her parents at the age of nine years for $140, a sum of $30 being paid to second defendant. She had practically all the heavy household work to do, and received $2 wages a month, from which deductions were made for breakages. The girl said that she was not allowed to leave her employer until she was 23 years of age, when the money paid for her had been paid off.

The first defendant said that the elder girl Tang Yau did some household work but the other girl did not.

The second defendant admitted the summons, but said that she had originally intended adopting the girl.

Mr. Schofield remarked that the girl Tsai Tain appeared to be well treated, and might have been adopted, and so discharged the second defendant, but imposed a fine of $50 on the first defendant.

CORRESPONDENCE

CANTON'S CHALLENGE TO NANKING.

(To the Editor of the Hongkong Telegraph.)

Sir,—I have read with interest the correspondence in your paper relating to the Canton and Nanking relationships.

I should like to point out that the signing of the truce with Japan was necessitated by the unfavorable military situation in North China. As a result of the war operations in the North, thousands of homes have been demolished and thousands of soldiers and civilians have been killed. Both Peking and Tientsin were threatened with an immediate occupation by the Japanese. Unless the Government arranged a truce with Japan the situation in North China would have become worse, especially with numerous Japanese and Manchukuo plainclothes men right behind the Chinese lines. One must accept realities. The situation in North China offered the Chinese Government no alternative but to accept the truce agreement.

The signing of the truce does not mean that China has agreed to give up Manchuria and Jehol. China can take advantage of the situation to effect real UNITY in the country and to reorganize her army. When she feels strong enough to embark on a new campaign she can arrange another undeclared war against Japan to get back the lost territory. Still not too late.

South China (headed by Mr. Chow-lu) has certainly made a sad mistake in refusing to co-operate with the Central Government, and insisting on fighting the Japanese. This is suicidal, as well as being unwelcome by the Chinese public. Mr. Chow-lu is known to be a clever politician, he surely could not commit such a serious blunder.

PREFER PEACE.

ONE DOLLAR DAMAGES
IN ADAMSON SLANDER CASE

3 asking for a reply. Now if I may refer you again to the letter written by your solicitors on March 4, they said on your behalf, that "to ask for an apology is absurd."

They also stated that they were prepared to accept service on any proceedings that would be taken against you on these alleged causes of action. The stand taken by you as shown in that letter was clearly indicated, that you were not going to give any apology at all and were ready to go to court and to trial. At the beginning of this action an offer was made in open court to accept an apology and a judgment for nominal damages. They might have been only $1. The plaintiff was quite willing to accept it. Do not these indications show that he was seeking not money but an apology and vindication?—I could not say. It is doubtful.

NO REASON.

It is so doubtful that you went so far as to put the contrary to your solicitors. Will you give your reasons?—I cannot.

Why do you suggest it then?—Because of his demeanour. Why do you suggest it then?—He went round telling everybody that he was going to sue me for damages. He was telling the staff and others.

May I suggest to you that apart from other matters in this case, the very fact that that question was put to Mr. Adamson in the witness box, shows that you were actuated by malice in the highest degree?—I have no time for malice. I cannot afford it in my job. I was not actuated by malice and Adamson knows it.

May I put it to you that you draw a big salary in your job and if Adamson went round saying that you were bringing the action for the sake of the damages, people would not believe it?—Yes.

MALICE ALLEGED.

And Mr. Adamson being a musician and out of work would be more likely to have believed it if it was said that he was bringing the action for damages?—Yes.

I suggest to you that you were actuated by malice in putting that question?—Absurd. I can give Mr. Adamson notice without any malice or vindictive feeling. You will agree with me that if that suggestion was believed it would give a totally different aspect to the whole of Mr. Adamson's case?—I cannot see that. You will not even agree with me on that.

A VERBAL ARRANGEMENT.

At the beginning of October last, you came to verbal arrangement with plaintiff. Can you remember those terms?—No, not off-hand.

The first term was that he was to obtain a band of six qualified musicians?—He seemed to have a band already.

Amongst other terms, these musicians were to obtain all their meals at Gloucester Building?—Only when on duty.

All right, you say so. There was also no question of a month's notice but for a six months period?—There was a contract made.

I am referring to the verbal arrangement. That was a facsimile of the arrangement.

You knew, of course, that one man was brought from outside the Colony to Hongkong by Mr. Adamson?—I don't remember that.

CONTRACT.

That contract referred to by you just now, when was it signed?—About three days afterwards.

It might be the second of November?—Yes.

On October 31, a new member of the band was obtained?—Yes. And Mr. Adamson's salary was accordingly raised to $1,700?—Yes.

Did Mr. Adamson make an objection to that agreement?—Not at all. He was very pleased to sign it. He was quite elated. In spite of the fact that his salary was specified as $1,500 on that agreement, he made no objection?—None whatever.

In spite of the fact that there were now seven musicians, he made no objection?—None whatever.

SEEMED INDIFFERENT.

Why was that contract signed about four or five days after it was written?—Probably because I could not get hold of Mr. Adamson at the time. There were many reasons. I may not have been in the Building just when he was.

Do you mean to say you were not on duty for four or five days? He was in the Gloucester Building?—No, not that. It seemed to me that he was very indifferent whether he got an agreement or not.

No letter was written asking for its confirmation on October 4?

THE NATURAL OUTCOME OF A WAR TO END WAR?

—I believe there was.

You did not bother to give him written confirmation until a week after he had started work?—Until I had got it from my Head Office.

Before this agreement was signed, about four or five days after work was started, there was a question of meals. Mr. Adamson made an objection to you, that they were refused their meals when they were not on duty?—Yes, that is customary.

JUST TO APPEASE.

As a result of that protest the band got all their meals after that whether they were on duty or not?—They did not get tiffin.

If these terms as regards meals, or tiffin, as you say, had not been agreed upon, can you say why there should be a protest from Mr. Adamson?—Not at all.

Nor why you should give them all their dinners after the protest?—Probably just to appease Adamson.

COMPLAINTS OF BAND.

Answering Mr. Silva further, witness said there was never any question of a new agreement being drawn up, not even for the incorporation of the $1,700. He agreed that several complaints had been received about the floor, many of them being brought to him by Mr. Adamson. He was fairly well pleased with the band's performance up to November 28 but after that date complaints reached him.

Mr. Silva: What definite complaints were there?—Witness: Change in time. Sometimes there were three changes in one tune.

Witness in further cross-examination, said that business started falling off after the reopening and he looked around for the cause. One reason apparent was the floor, and the other the band and he told Adamson "You had them once, but cannot hold them. It is quite obvious you cannot hold them."

A COINCIDENCE?

Mr. Silva: You received a letter on February 27 asking for an apology for libel and slander and you did not reply until March 4, the day on which you re-engaged the band. It seems peculiar that there should be such a coincidence. Why did you not reply earlier?—The matter was in the hands of my solicitors.

Late in February you gave Mr. Adamson a receipt to sign in exchange for a cheque in settlement of all claims he may have had against the company. Was that before or after you had received the letter demanding apology?—I do not remember.

Why did you put in the words "all claims against the company"?—I had to sign a similar receipt myself when I left my previous employment.

FOR PROTECTION.

I put it to you that the purpose in getting Mr. Adamson to sign the receipt was only to protect yourself against the letter?—No. Witness admitted that the relationship between himself and Adamson was strained especially towards the end of January, the reason being that Adamson dodged him on every possible occasion and would never talk business with him.

Mr. Silva: Coming to February 21 Mr. Butts saw you on business in connection with advertising contracts. Was there any inducement at all for Mr. Butts to come here and give evidence against you?—None except that he was a friend of Adamson.

And you assert that Butts has given false evidence as regards the words uttered?—Yes.

Butts remembered certain words according to his evidence and it was put to him by your solicitor that the conversation ended at a point just before the slander or alleged slander. Do you assert that you did stop there and go no further?—Yes.

AN EVIL PURPOSE.

I put it to you that those words were uttered by you to Butts?—I deny that. Mr. Butts was obsessed with an evil purpose and was sent by the plaintiff.

You suggest now that Adamson sent Butts along for the sole purpose of getting evidence against you?—Yes.

What indication was there that he was sent by Adamson?—I somehow sensed it the moment I saw Butts.

I suggest to you that you are denying publication because you are afraid of the consequences in the event of it, being proved that you did say these words?—I am not afraid of any consequences. The words were not uttered.

POSSIBLY FORGOTTEN.

At the conclusion of the case for the defence, his Lordship said: I see no reason to disbelieve the evidence of Mr. Butts and find as a fact that the words were uttered on February 23. It may be possible that defendant has forgotten. I therefore find that publication has been proved.

Mr. Mackinlay: May I have leave under the circumstances to amend by defence with an affirmation that the words were not defamatory and were not understood by Mr. Butts to be defamatory?

His Lordship: I do not think you can possibly add the last amendment.

HASTY WORDS.

Addressing His Lordship on the first affirmation, Mr. Mackinlay said his client was a very worried man and was very busy looking after the hotel, the band, and other matters. He was in a hurry to be rid of Butts and spoke hastily, words which the hearer never took to mean that Adamson was a bad trumpet player or that the band was bad. Butts merely got the impression that that was Newman's opinion but he himself was not influenced by it, nor was his opinion of Adamson lowered. The words were defamatory but not actionable.

Mr. Mackinlay quoted authorities in support of this line of defence, but his Lordship pointed out that they arose from different circumstances to those under consideration.

"There is no question of a jest, or innocent meaning here. There is no other meaning in the words than what they imply," said His Lordship.

Mr. Mackinlay: If your Lordship is against me on this, I would like to address your Lordship on the question of damages.

His Lordship: I am against you.

NO QUESTION OF DAMAGES.

Mr. Mackinlay submitted that there was no question of damages in this case. Mr. Butts did not think anything of the remark made to him by Mr. Newman but merely repeated it to Mr. Adamson as a jest. This was a case where defendant should be allowed costs on the two issues of libel and slander relating to the letter, which he had won. The matter of the receipt which plaintiff was asked to sign was no protection to defendant and was therefore not malitious.

Mr. Silva said there was no necessity to prove special damages in this case which concerned allegations against a professional man. His Lordship, sitting as a jury, could award punitive damages on the consideration, that these allegations would obstruct plaintiff from getting work. He agreed with his friend's request for costs on the two issues he had won.

His Lordship: In my opinion, the plaintiff is entitled in his strict legal rights in bringing this action, but it is an action which should never have been brought. I give judgment for plaintiff for $1 damages, and make no order as to costs.

THREE DAYS FOR DISCUSSIONTHE WORLD ECONOMIC CONFERENCEDEBT QUESTION RAISED

London, June 13. There can be no political peace in the world without economic peace, declared Viscount Ishii of Japan, in the course of an address before the continuing session of the World Economic Conference in London yesterday.

The Conference, on the motion of Mr. MacDonald, has appointed a Bureau consisting of Argentina, China, Czechoslovakia, France, Germany, Great Britain, Hungary, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Holland, Spain, Sweden, the United States, Soviet Russia and Canada.

Other routine business, the spade-work of the delegates, is in hand.

Work of Bureau.

Following the plenary meeting of the Conference, the Bureau, comprising sixteen representative nations, held a private meeting at which it was decided to establish two Commissions, the first to study the monetary problems before the Conference and the second, the economic problems, such as tariffs, quotas, exchange restrictions and so on.

These Commissions will probably meet at convenient times to formulate their programme of work, but it is not expected that they will begin serious operations until Friday, if the general discussion has finished by then.

Limitation of Speeches.

The American, French, Italian and Japanese speakers at the World Economic Conference on Tuesday have been chosen deliberately in order to disclose the programmes of the key delegations promptly.

It has been decided to limit the inaugural speeches to 15 minutes, and to fix the Conference hours at 10.30 a.m. to 5 p.m., with an adjournment for lunch.

The Monetary and Economic committees will meet on Friday, regardless of whether the general discussion has ended.—Reuter Special.

Reforms Needed

London, June 13. Late arrivals, when the World Economic Conference resumed at 10.30 a.m. to-day, led the President, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, to lay stress upon the necessity of punctuality.

He then communicated the decision of the Bureau, that the general discussion would last only three days, and urged the limitation of delegates' speeches to fifteen minutes.

M. Daladier, French delegate, opening the general discussion, stressed the need of stabilising currency, of durable trade agreements, besides agreements for the rationalising of production, and urged the institution of great public works to absorb unemployment. The free movement of gold must be restored and efforts made to organise labour by the adoption of a 40-hour working week, he declared.

The Debt Question.

Sr. Jung of Italy speaking next, emphasized the need for the settlement of inter-governmental debts. This, he asserted, was the preliminary problem to the raising of commodity prices and the removing of trade barriers. Credit could not be stimulated merely by increasing the supply of credit.

Rt. Hon. General Smuts, of South Africa, recalled that one of three members of the Conference were also members of the Versailles Conference.

General Smuts suggested the appointment of two technical expert committees, one for financial and monetary consideration, and the other for economic study, in order to formulate resolutions. He feared no real progress would be made unless the financial and economic issues were separated from political issues. When the proposed committees' resolutions reached the Conference for approval, it would be for the Conference to supply the necessary political criticism.

Peace or War?

Viscount Ishii, of Japan, said that that nation was ready to co-operate wholeheartedly. The Conference's failure would mean a world-wide economic collapse. The Japanese Government was prepared to consider measures to obviate exchange fluctuations, pending a return to the gold-standard.

He urged the mitigation of trade barriers, in view of the tendency towards increased discrimination against foreign goods in international trade and declared for the unrestricted application of "most favoured nation" clauses.

It was necessary to remember that there could be no political peace without economic peace.

M. Cosío, of Uruguay, followed him, speaking briefly.

The Conference adjourned at 12.35 p.m. until 3 o'clock.

Afternoon Session.

When the afternoon session opened, Sir Atul Chatterjee, Chairman of the governing body of the International Labour Office, accompanied by two colleagues, presented a resolution adopted by the International Labour Conference at Geneva on unemployment. He said the estimate of thirty million unemployed in the world was under the actual number and did not show the full weight of the burden of unemployment. For there were millions at present, especially in an Asiatic country like India or China, who, owing to the fall of prices of primary products, were unable to secure the bare necessities of life and had ceased to consume manufactured goods.

Until stable monetary conditions arrived, national and international, and were established, and restrictions on world-trade lifted, there could be no permanent reduction in the ranks of the unemployed.

Urgent Needs.

The resolution drew to the attention of the Conference the urgency of measures for international labour: Firstly, the restoration of stable monetary conditions; secondly, the establishment of a system of international co-operation to prevent disastrous fluctuations of price levels which produce widespread unemployment; thirdly, a cessation of economic warfare between nations, cessation of economic warfare by the elimination of exchange restrictions; fourthly, increased purchasing power and the maintenance of an adequate standard of living for the workers; and fifthly, the restoration of idle capital to circulation by adoption of a public works policy, with or without the collaboration of creditor countries.

Mr. MacDonald ruled that the Labour resolution should be referred to the appropriate committee, when it was elected.

German Statement.

Baron von Neurath, the German Foreign Minister and former Ambassador to London, said the fact that the causes of the depression were not purely economic did not make it easier for anyone to try to make the other change his mind.

"In the course of this general debate I merely wish to underline the generally recognized economic principles that ultimately the international debts can only be paid in goods and services."

"In Germany's present situation this principle must be our starting point."

Von Neurath claimed that Germany had fully contributed towards the reestablishment of world confidence. She had given, inter alia, a new impulse to the Disarmament Conference by accepting Premier MacDonald's plan as a basis for a future convention. He reminded the Conference that over and above the detailed problems, there were great political tasks upon the solution of which the success of the Conference depended.—Reuter.

NANKING ENVOY TO CANTONBRINGING REPLY TO CRITICS

Shanghai, June 13.

General Huang Shao-hung, an emissary of the Nanking Government, is leaving for Hongkong to-morrow aboard the President Cleveland, en route to Canton.

There he will explain the political situation in North China.

It is also expected that he will interview General Tani Ting-kai, of the 19th Route Army, famed for his defence of Chapel during the Sino-Japanese clash at Shanghai last year.

In view of the fierce criticism of the Southwest against General Chiang Kai-shek's policies, against the truce with Japan, and the alleged surrender of four of the Northwest provinces, General Huang's task is not likely to be an easy one.—Reuter.

Another Conference.

Peking, June 13. General Han Fu-chu, Chairman of the Shantung Provincial Government, is expected here this evening from Tsinan. He has travelled with his family to Tsinan in an armoured train.

General Han is coming to see General Ho Ying-ching and General Huang Fu. He will attend the inauguration ceremony of the Peking Political Council, of which he is a member.

Huang Fu will be the first chairman.—Reuter.

BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney.

At auction bridge there was but little bidding and therefore most of the opening leads were "what might be termed" "book leads." You led the top of your partner's suit, the fourth best, or the queen from the queen-jack-ten and so on.

But at contract bridge there is generally a great deal of bidding, especially when the final contract is for a game or a slam, therefore I want to advise my readers to abolish those foolish auction tactics. It is true you can still use a few of the auction leads, but don't lead a card simply because the book says, "lead so-and-so when you hold this hand."

Analyze the bidding. See if you can find a weak spot and, if so,

♠ K-Q-3-2	♥ 10-J-4
♦ Q-10	♣ 8-5
♠ A-K	♥ 4-2
♦ K-J-10-5-2	♣ 9-7
	♠ 5-2
	♥ Q-7
	♦ A-J
	♠ A-K-J-7-3
	♥ Q-J-10
	♦ 9-6-4

attack there. Take for example the following hand:

The Bidding

South, the dealer, opened the bidding with one heart. West passed and North, while he had a five card club suit and only a four-card spade suit, should bid the spades first in this case as it allows him to make a one over one forcing bid.

Naturally, with your partner making an original bid when you hold this strong hand, you are looking for a slam, so rather than bid two clubs in this case I would force with one spade.

South can show his five-card heart suit by a simple bid of two hearts. North can make another constructive bid of three clubs—this is a very strong bid, the showing of a second suit. South bids four no trump to indicate clearly that he has the diamond suit stopped. This would also show some strength in spades. North should jump to six no trump.

The Play

West is the opening leader. It is senseless to lead the fourth best spade or diamond as you cannot hope to establish an eight or a nine—remember you are trying to defeat a slam contract.

The bidding has clearly indicated that South was afraid of clubs—that is why he didn't go to no trump earlier. North has showed stoppers in clubs, therefore he is marked with the king of clubs. So why not open a small club hoping to put the declarer to a tough guess?

You see what happens?—the dummy goes down with the king-jack-ten. True, if the declarer goes up with the king of clubs, he can make a grand slam, but at least you have put him to a guess. If he plays the jack, your partner's queen wins, a club is returned, and you have defeated the slam contract.

Children's Hot Weather
Health Troubles.

The commencement of the hotter months is very often marked by stomach and bowel troubles in the little ones. In order to prevent the development of more serious conditions Baby's Own Tablets should be administered at the first signs of "off colour," loss of appetite, tendencies to constipation or indigestion, unusual looseness of the bowels, stomach ache, general lack of good spirits, ill-temper or sleeplessness.

For babies and for children of all ages up to seven or eight, parents in hot countries cannot keep a more valuable corrective in the home than Baby's Own Tablets. An occasional tablet through the trying summer season is a precaution many parents take.

Being the prescription of a highly qualified specialist in children's ailments, Baby's Own Tablets are absolutely correct and reliable, containing no opiates, narcotics or other harmful drugs. For teething babies they are wonderful, easing the pains rapidly, thus enabling baby to sleep. All wise parents keep Baby's Own Tablets handy. Obtainable from reputable chemists everywhere.

RADIO WITHOUT A LICENCE EUROPEAN FINED $20

Appearing before Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy this morning, on a summons of having an unlicensed radio, Mr. E. Rouillon was fined $20.

Mr. J. M. D'Almeida Remedios, for defendant, pleaded guilty to a technical offence, saying that Mr. Rouillon was not aware that a licence had to be taken in respect of a radio, as he was under the impression that it was the same as having a wireless set. The moment Mr. Rouillon came to know that a licence was necessary, he took one out. A man of Mr. Rouillon's standing was hardly to commit an offence of this kind, unless he was absolutely in ignorance of the law.

Sergeant Ellis said that the wireless authorities did not take a lenient view of the case, as Mr. Rouillon had the set since February 16.

Mr. Remedios contended that his client was absolutely ignorant of the law, and was not trying to defraud the Government, or failed to take a licence out of sheer carelessness.

Sergeant Ellis added that Mr. Rouillon had paid the full $10 for the whole year.

NO PASSPORT RUSSIAN TRADER IN COLONY

"CAN'T BE LET LOOSE"

Sinagatulla Minnikuilmoff, a young Russian trader, was charged before Mr. Wynne-Jones in the Central Police Court this morning, with arriving in Hongkong without a valid passport.

Defendant stated he had a passport issued in Shanghai last year by the Chinese Bureau of Foreign Affairs but it had been stolen by Chinese. A remand of seven days was ordered for further investigation into the matter.

Detective-Sergeant Mottram said defendant gave himself up at the Central Police Station the night before last after arriving here by train from Chinese territory. He was a trader going round China selling soap, blankets, etc., and obtained his supplies from Shanghai. At Canton, he was told by the Police to return to Shanghai for a proper passport. He left and on his way down, stopped at Sheklung as he wished to dispose of some of his wares. The Police objected to him hawking in the streets and he was asked to leave. On arrival in Hongkong he had only ten cents. He had no passport and the only paper he possessed was a memo to say he had been in the Russian Unit of the Shanghai

18 YEARS' SERVICE RUINED Railway Employee's Lapse

With a record of 18 years' service in the Kowloon Canton Railway, Mak Young, a fireman, was charged before Mr. Butters at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning with being in possession of 70 taels of non-Government prepared opium in one of the carriages of the Canton express, which arrived at Kowloon shortly after 7 p.m. yesterday.

Detective Inspector Rozosky said defendant was found by an Indian policeman in the course of search duties. Defendant's behaviour aroused his suspicion, and he arrested him. A search made immediately afterwards revealed that defendant had the opium tied to his body with rubber bands.

Mr. J. Smith of the K.C.R. said these offences were becoming a nuisance. There had been a number of them lately and he asked the magistrate to deal severely with this particular case.

A fine of $5,000 or one year's hard labour was imposed.

Volunteers for a few months in 1927.

The Magistrate (to defendant)—I am afraid I can't let you loose round the Colony.
